Community Service Starts Move for High Civic Center

COMMUNITY SERVICE of Glendale has started the ball rolling towards securing the old high school plant as a civic center. At a meeting of the executive committee held on Wednesday the president was instructed to appoint a committee to look into this matter in all details so as to be able to report to the board of directors at an early date.

It is fitting that a movement such as this should be started by the Community Service, for there is no organization that could go before the people with a recommendation that would be received as well.

COMMUNITY SERVICE is in Glendale for one purpose only, and that is to carry out service to the community. We know of no better service it could render than by being the agency through which a civic center could be secured by our city.

THIS has been a pet hobby of ours. We have seen the need of providing some place where the youth of our city could be provided means of recreation. Glendale is a clean town and it wants its youth to be above criticism, but we have done nothing for the majority but tell them certain things could not be done. By purchasing a civic center we could provide means of recreation which would take care of their excess energy in a beneficial way.

If this plan is successful, the plant could be elaborated by adding a swimming pool and comfort station which could be used by the people at large.

We cannot recommend this movement too highly, for we recognize the absolute need of a civic center.

THOSE residents or business men of Glendale who have become impatient at the delay in completing the lowering of the track and paving of the street on Brand boulevard between Colorado boulevard and Windsor road may gain some satisfaction in the letter James W. Pearson has just received from D. W. Pontius, general manager of the Pacific Electric Railway company.

In this letter Mr. Pontius writes that the work would be carried through to completion and not later than 60 days, as early as possible. He explains that the delay was caused by reason of slowness in rock deliveries.

NEW EASTERN STAR TO RISE IN GLENDAL

Plans for Second Chapter of 100 Members Are Made

Plans are already under way for the organizing of a new Eastern Star chapter in Glendale with Mrs. Libbie Cutting as temporary worthy matron and B. F. Bourne as temporary worthy patron. Both of these officers have held grand offices. According to Mr. Bourne orders have been given out by the grand matron that when an Eastern Star chapter has over 300 members a new chapter must be formed.

"About 100 have already signed their intention of joining the new chapter. These would be largely Eastern Star members belonging to chapters in the east or in Los Angeles and who are now residing in Glendale, in addition to the new members of the order. It will be necessary to temporarily hold the meetings on Saturday night until the new Masonic Temple is built, but it will take some time to organize the new chapter and the temple will then be pretty well under way," Mr. Bourne states.

GLENDAL HIGH SCORES COMEBACK

In the baseball game in which Glendale high's team tangled with Alhambra high talent on the Alhambra field Friday afternoon, the Glendale team changed its luck by winning, 8 to 0. They have no chance to secure the championship, which will undoubtedly go to Alhambra, which has not lost a game thus far.

Next Friday Glendale will play South Pasadena, which, like Glendale, has lost three games.

DR. BROWN IS CLERK

Brief Meeting Results in Choice for the Executive

H. W. Yarick was elected president of the High School Board at the meeting held this noon at the school.

The meeting was very brief, Capt. Thomas D. Watson, retiring president, called the board to order. Four trustees were present, Albert Pearce, Dr. Harry V. Brown, Mrs. Blanche Gardiner and the president.

The vote electing Mr. Yarick followed. Dr. Harry V. Brown was then elected clerk of the board. In the absence of Mr. Yarick Dr. Brown presided.

A bill for a microscope for school use, ordered at the last meeting, was approved, and the board adjourned to meet next Tuesday evening.

KITE CHAMPIONS TAKE FIELD AT WILSON AVE.

With the sun shining high, an excellent "kite" wind blowing, and a multitude of boys of the kite-flying age, ranging from those who are taking their first steps, to the "big boys" who have passed perhaps several seasons of the Glendale Community Service Kite Flying Tournament took the air today at 1 o'clock at the Wilson avenue and San Fernando road baseball field.

Albert T. Blanford, chairman of the tournament, was the busiest man in Glendale for a while, arranging the contestants in the events, the young competitors as eager to start as a kite to break from its string when a strong wind is blowing.

And the kites that were entered into the field for honors were of sufficient number to furnish the average boy dealer for the next seven kite seasons. Small ones, that required great skill in the making; large ones, some perfectly proportioned and graceful to behold, and others not so perfect; box kites, bow kites, tail kites; they were all there in great numbers.

Quite the most interesting kites to be entered were those entered in the first event. The decorated ones, with their rivalry in bright shades, the emblem kites, and those which were designed to fall under the artistic and novelty class. It was said that there were ideas advanced in the samples of unusual kites to completely revise the air transportation facilities of the world, could they be applied.

A complete list of prize winners and those receiving honorable mention will be published Monday.

FRIENDS ACTION CAUSES FRANK FISKE MUCH TROUBLE

Frank Fiske, of 200 East Avenue 13, Los Angeles, who was arrested Friday morning on a charge of illegally transporting liquor, was arraigned before Judge Lowe Friday. He deposited $100 cash bail to insure his appearance at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Fiske, who is a magazine writer, was surprised by his arrest. According to his statement, he had no knowledge of it being in his car. A friend, who lives in Glendale had met him in Los Angeles and possibly put the bottle in the machine.

KIWANIS IS FULL OF FISH STORIES THESE DAYS

Members Tell of Trips to the Sespe and Other Streams

By W. L. TAYLOR

If you had been at the Kiwanis club luncheon yesterday you would have doubtless been on your way now to some secluded spot in the canyons, where mountain streams dance and glisten in the sun, and trout play hide-and-seek among the rocks, for the fish stories told by returning fishermen would excite your ambitions to an extent that you would want to try your luck right now.

A dozen or more Kiwanians told deep and mysterious stories of the places they had been, the luck that had followed them and the mishaps that had befallen others along the journey to the Sespe and near-by fishing resorts. "Some" stories these fellows told, and several of them had the earmarks of being really truthful. Frank Echols, Harry McBain and wife, Dr. T. C. Young, Bill Bode, Herb Henning, Jesse Smith and family, Harry Hall, and others had been to Big Bear and away up on the Big Sespe and were more than satisfied with what they caught.

This, however, did not prevent President Ferguson from collecting fines from several of the fishermen.

The doctors were to have put on the program, but for some unaccountable reason they did not "materialize," and were granted a further respite to make good. It was stated that the lawyers, doctors and undertakers, besides the real estate men, would each put on a program in the near future. That they will inject some comedy into these programs goes without saying.

The Kiwanis club has become so popular in Glendale that there is a demand for the Kiwanis International Magazine in the Glendale library. A yearly subscription was given the library by the local club to the Kiwanis magazine.

Next Friday the automobile men, with Ben Towman as president, will give the program. They may have on exhibition some of the earlier models of "automobile lore," which long since have been consigned to the archives of ancient history.

That Glendale should do something toward preventing beggars coming to Glendale and plying their trade on the street corners was the opinion of W. L. Truitt.

"I understand there is a trust in Los Angeles which routes these beggars to outlying towns every week," said Mr. Truitt, "and I believe the city council should make Glendale a beggar-free city. Charitable institutions will provide for deserving people, and there should be no real excuse for street beggars."

Jesse Smith, president of the chamber of commerce, was present and stated that he believed it would be well for the club to refer all such matters to the Civic committee of the chamber, and that he would appreciate any suggestion from the club or others, which would enable the chamber to accomplish the most good for the community.

District Governor Brown was present and gave a short talk on club matters, highly complimenting Glendale Kiwanis for its per and manner of handling the work. "The Glendale club is certainly alive," said Mr. Brown, "and deserves to be ranked among the best in the country," concluded the speaker.

The attendance prize was given by Dr. Jack Anderson, and in the drawing he was the winner. The doctor passed the prize to the next name and Olin Harris, a visitor to the club, won. He was required to sing a song as a reward, and he certainly did his part in this respect, when he sang two Kiwanis numbers.

The Kiwanis club is planning to give the orphan boys a good time soon, and may go to the Strickland home as was planned last week. However, scarlet fever quarantine prevented the club from entertaining the Strickland boys last week, which was very much regretted not only by the youngsters, but by about fifty Kiwanians who had planned to give the boys a real good time.

NATIONAL GUARDS TO PLAY DEAF AND DUMB

The Glendale National Guard will tackle the Deaf and Dumb Baseball Association of Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon at the Park avenue baseball park, Park avenue and San Fernando road. The game will be called at 2:30 sharp.

Charlie Wendt and Dock White will pitch for the Guards, both of them seem to have added zest in the last month, and Bacon will stop their attacks behind the bat. The home lineup will probably be: Bacon; C; White, Wendt, Agerson; 1b; Mitchell, 2b; Agerson; 3b; Miller, 3b; Eric Westman, Alisley, in the field, with Sanders, Nelson and Franklin on the benches.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Weather outlook for week beginning Monday: Pacific states. Generally fair; normal temperatures.

SCHOLARSHIP TO BE PROVIDED BY MUSIC ORGANIZATIONS HERE

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones Makes Announcement in the Federation Night Program at High Last Evening and Is Well Received

FOR MEMBER OF THE JUNIOR AUXILIARY

Excellent Audience Attends Big Concert of All the Units of Glendale and Officers Are Present and Make Reports

An excellent audience and a very enthusiastic, responsive one, enjoyed the fine program provided for "Federation Night" by the Glendale Music club at Glendale Union High school Friday night.

The seven musical organizations included in the federation were represented on the program and the heads of their organizations called to the platform and introduced by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club. Each one responded to the request to give some account of the work being done by the group with whom he or she is connected.

Mrs. Jones announced an important meeting of active members of the Music Club Monday night for the revision of the by-laws, one of the proposed revisions providing for the doing away of initiation fees and for the substitution of annual dues of $5.

She also made an announcement, received with applause, that the club intends to raise a scholarship fund for the purpose of sending to Chicago for special instruction in the violin at the summer school of the Chicago Conservatory of Music a talented member of the Junior Auxiliary of the Music Club. This young woman, she stated, has been generous in playing for the large organizations in town and they will now be asked to express their appreciation in a substantial way.

The response thus far, she said, had been enthusiastic, a number of volunteer subscriptions having already been received toward this fund which is in line with the work the club is pledged to do for the encouragement of struggling talent. A recital to raise money for the fund will be given in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon Club the evening of May 24 to which the composer, Charles Wake.

As for the program plans of the Music Club, they include, she said, a series of five concerts by the best artists to be secured and these will depend in a great measure on the membership drive to be inaugurated. Under this a silver trophy will be given to the person who secures the largest number of subscribers, particularly patron subscriptions which cost $10, and which will entitle the holders to two tickets.

Representatives who spoke for the other organizations in the Music Federation were: Ivan Dow, president of the High School Orchestra; Frances Wyman, president of the Girls' Glee Club of Glendale High; Gertrude Heide-man, president of the Junior Auxiliary of the Glendale Music Club; Susie Smith, president of the Juvenile Auxiliary; Mrs. G. D. Roach, of the Madrigal Club; Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club; Mrs. Dora Gibson, vice-president of the Music Club, director of the High School Orchestra, supervisor of auxiliaries of the club; Mrs. Florence Parker, director of the Madrigal Club, and director of the high school Glee Clubs.

Because members of the High School Orchestra and Girls' Glee Club had party engagements they were given an early place on the program.

The program on which some subjects were discussed at length and those present voiced their willingness and intention to get in and work for everything that is coming to them.

The next meeting of the organization will be held on Monday, May 14, at 7:30 o'clock, at which time the question of fire protection for that section will be taken up and discussed. It is understood the people down there intend to make a demand to the council of Los Angeles, of which city that section is a part, for an adequate fire house. There is absolutely nothing in the way of fire-fighting facilities in the Atwater tract at this time, although there are several hundred homes in that section.

THE WEATHER

Southern California: Fair to night and Sunday; light northwest winds.
Valleys: Fair tonight and Sunday; light northerly winds.

Better street car transportation, street lighting and other things that are particularly pertinent to that section, were taken up and discussed by the residents of the Atwater tract at a meeting which was held in the Wilson building on Glendale boulevard, south of the Southern Pacific tracks, Friday night.

The people of that section are of the opinion that they are not getting the service they should have along these and in other ways, and with the hope of bettering their conditions they have formed the Atwater Improvement Association. Through this organization they expect to go "to the bat" on everything that would tend to build at their territory.

At the meeting held last night no definite action was taken. The various matters were discussed at length and those present voiced their willingness and intention to get in and work for everything that is coming to them.

HI GLEE CLUBS TO GIVE CONCERT

Tuesday evening, May 29, has been named as the date of the concert which the Glee clubs of Glendale high are to give under the auspices of and for the benefit of the P. T. A. of the school.

The girls' Glee club is already hard at work rehearsing Denza's charming cantata, "The Garden of Flowers," which will be presented in costume and very prettily staged.

The boys' Glee club are to sing a special setting of Scott's "Lock-in," arranged by Hammond, and miscellaneous songs including some comedy numbers. Only a small admission fee will be charged.

EXPERT SERVICE ON C. OF C. IS APPROVED

Charles Baer Will Conduct Survey of the Local Field

Charles Baer, manager of the service department of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, was in conference Friday night for three hours with directors of the Glendale chamber who voted unanimously to accept the services of his department for a campaign of one week, beginning June 4, in which an endeavor will be made to increase the membership of the local chamber to 1500 and collect an advertising budget of $20,000.

This "service department" of the Los Angeles chamber was inaugurated 17 months ago for the purpose of organizing new chambers and assisting old ones, the Los Angeles organization standing all the expense of maintaining Mr. Baer and his three assistants. The argument behind this altruistic attitude is that it pays the Los Angeles chamber to see that no other chamber in Southern California fails.

Mr. Baer will be in Glendale and personally direct the campaign during the week mentioned, and will be assisted by his lieutenant, Mr. Morris, who has charge of Red Cross work for the twelve coast states during the world war.

When a campaign of this kind is put on by professional, paid organizers, their first demand is always the resignation of all local officials. This, Mr. Baer explained, he has never done and he has been uniformly successful. He did, however, call attention to a common complaint he meets that "this same people are in power all the time and that the chamber is run by a certain clique." He recommended a change in the by-laws which the directors adopted, which would provide that no director can succeed himself in office without at least one year's intervention. This is said to remove occasion for that criticism.

Secretary Sanders states that in the carrying out of the arrangement made with Mr. Baer the first step will be to summon all citizens interested in the local chamber of commerce to a banquet to be held the night of June 3, at which a charge of 50 cents a plate will be made, the place of meeting to be announced later. At that dinner the plan of campaign will be explained, the president of the Los Angeles chamber, who will be a guest, will make a short address, and all matters pertaining to the signing up of new members and collection of service fund, will be analyzed, to the end that a program may be worked out.

Mr. Baer expressed confidence in his ability to put the Glendale chamber back in line as one of the leading organizations in Southern California.

LEGION DANCE OF TONIGHT TO BE BEST OF YEAR

So Leroy Fortier Reports to Post at Regular Meeting

Comrade Leroy Fortier, chairman of the American Legion dance committee, has completed plans for the dance which will be held tonight at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, and which promises to be the best dance of the season given by the local post. The committee is planning several features of entertainment. Music for dancing will be furnished by "the dark town syncopators."

At the regular meeting of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, held last night, C. G. Gibb was elected adjutant to fill the unexpired term of W. Claire Anspach. The newly elected adjutant was installed by Comrade Dwight W. Stephenson, who is the official state installing officer. Mr. Gibb responded with an appropriate speech of acceptance. The election of Mr. Gibb automatically created a vacancy in the Los Angeles County American Legion Council, of which he was a member. A nomination committee placed the names of Dr. W. C. Mabry, Col. J. W. Everington and Attorney Hay Morrow as nominees to fill the vacancy.

The American Legion post will cooperate with the G. A. R. in the observation of Memorial Day. Comrade Chief of Police Fraser and Comrade City Manager Reeves will officially represent the Legion post.

Comrade Scout Master Lockwood announced the promotion of 17 scouts of the Legion Troop No. 4 to the grade of tenderfoot. Colonel Everington presided at the investiture ceremonies on Wednesday night, when the newly earned marks of distinction were pinned on the candidates.

A very interesting baseball game is promised for tomorrow when the Glendale post and Los Angeles post No. 8 teams will clash at the Legion baseball grounds at San Fernando road and Wilson avenue. The attendance prize for the evening, which was donated by J. F. Fisher of 212 East Broadway, was awarded to R. G. Lindsley.

ED RADKE'S SON RECOVERS FROM HIS WOUND

Father Suggests That the Strother Boy Become Boy Scout

Edward Radke, 6, son of E. N. Radke, Glendale jeweler, who was shot while at play in Bellehurst Park last Sunday afternoon, has sufficiently recovered to be able to return to school next Monday, his father stated today.

Mr. Radke, in referring to the shooting, which was done by Russell Strother, 12, of 720 North Howard, stated that he would not prosecute, but that he believed the young wrong-doer should be made to join the Boy Scouts in order to receive the proper discipline.

"The shooting occurred when my son and a playmate were playing at fishing, with a bent pin on the end of a string, at Bellehurst Park. Russell Strother and another boy were passing, and Strother pointed a child's pump rifle at my son."

"Edward begged him not to shoot, but, according to the children's story, the other boy urged Strother to go ahead and shoot. He did and the bullet hit Edward's cheek below the left eye, knocking him to the ground."

"When he saw that Edward was hurt, he did not stay to offer any aid, and Edward's playmate administered first aid, though he thought at first that my son had been killed. The Strother boy needs Boy Scout discipline, for one of the first things they learn is that they must offer assistance to anyone who is hurt."

The injured boy's eyesight was somewhat impaired at first, but no serious defects are now noticeable. Mr. Radke stated that they feel fortunate that his eye was not put out by the shot.

Merle Waterman of Long Beach entertained those present with stories and with a ventriloquist exhibition. His offerings were high class and were enjoyed to the extreme.

Mayor Spencer Robinson received an ovation when he appeared shortly after dinner, and during the evening he spoke to the boys and men and later sang "Blue Bells of Scotland," responding to an encore. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robinson.

Short talks were given by Mr. Gray, father of J. L. Gray, head of the social committee of the class, and by Mr. Olin, father of Rene Olin, president of the class.

One of the amusing features of the evening was the ventriloquist "duet" put on by Eska Wilson of Los Angeles, and his "pal." His work was quite unusual, and his ability to "throw" his voice behind the piano, out of the window, to the ceiling and other places, was really amazing.

HERBERT COLLINS IS HELD ON $300 BAIL
Herbert Collins, 317 East Wilson, who was arrested for reckless driving when his machine crashed through the gates of the Southern Pacific company at Brand boulevard, Friday morning, was arraigned by Judge Lowe Friday. His bail was set at $300. This he furnished, whereupon he was released pending his hearing, which will be held Monday.

CITY POLICE PRAISED BY L.A. OFFICER

W. H. Holland, Probationary of Juvenile Court, Speaks at Church

MEN, BOYS' FRIENDS

Dads and Sons Hear Interesting Talk at Baptist Banquet

Nearly two hundred men and boys played pals to each other at the father and son banquet at the First Baptist Church, corner Wilson and Louise, Friday night. Every dad who had a boy took him and every one who did not "grabbed off" some other boy. Considered altogether the banquet was one of the biggest things ever held in that church. It was given under the auspices of the Tri Mu class of the Baptist Sunday school.

The principal speaker of the evening was W. H. Holland, chief probation officer of the Juvenile Court of Los Angeles County. "I'll tell you, boys," said Mr. Holland, "you are a mighty fortunate bunch to have such a chief of police as Col. Fraser. During the past few months I have had a great deal to do with him and the men who are under him and I have found them to be true blue. They are a bunch of fellows who believe in boys. They try to do everything they can to keep the 'kids' of the community from going wrong. If, however, they do fall, Col. Fraser and his crew are always willing and anxious to help them up. Boys, you have a friend in your chief of police."

"I believe the love of the parents of this country for their children is the biggest thing in the land. If you take that love and stack it up against all the wealth in the world the love will win out hands down. Ask any normal father or mother if he would prefer all the wealth in the world to his or her child and the parent would laugh in your face. Money and jewels cannot buy a child. It is the dearest and most precious thing in the world."

"The next thing is the home. The boy or the girl cannot be brought up properly without a good home. Most of the children who come before our department come there through the lack of a good home and of real parental love."

"In order to make their way successfully in the world the boys must be good physically. There must be no cigarettes or any other bad habits to tear down the boy's willpower or his physical endurance. He must have physical strength."

"The boy must have moral strength, too. This comes only through strict and earnest religious training. The boy is bound to come up against temptation, and if he is going to overcome this his moral strength must be firmly established."

"To make the boy what he should be the father should and must be a pal to his son. I say 'God bless the man who is the ideal of his boy!'"

Col. Fraser, chief of police of Glendale, gave a very instructive talk to the boys on police work in Glendale and he gave a number of illustrations of his work with boys in this city. He placed the blame for the wayward boys and girls of this section on the parents and not on the children themselves.

"We find," he said, "that in every case where a boy or girl goes wrong, there is a 'freak' in the family somewhere. It is generally a question of the parents having things to do other than making a pal of their children."

Merle Waterman of Long Beach entertained those present with stories and with a ventriloquist exhibition. His offerings were high class and were enjoyed to the extreme.

Mayor Spencer Robinson received an ovation when he appeared shortly after dinner, and during the evening he spoke to the boys and men and later sang "Blue Bells of Scotland," responding to an encore. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robinson.

PRINCESS MARY'S CENTRAL AVENUE BRIDAL GOWN HAS BIG FUTURE IS COPIED SAYS GUTHRIE

Achieves Clever Window Display of Things for the June Bride

An unusually attractive window display is to be seen at Pendroy's this week. Through the clever efforts of Mrs. Pendroy and her assistants, the costume worn by Princess Mary when she was given in marriage, has been copied, and the bride is shown, accompanied by a dainty, diminutive flower girl, and a lovely bridesmaid.

The elaborate bridal veil of white silk tulle and chantilly lace is enhanced by a pearl bedecked coronet. The dress, which is white also, is trimmed with pearls. The bride carries a lovely bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The dress worn by the flower girl was made by Mrs. Pendroy's assistants. It is of acordion plaited net, over delicate lace. The bridesmaid's costume is a lavender flowered organza over lavender.

The bride's trousseau of dainty lingerie, the "going away" costumes, footwear and hosiery, are on display in the side window.

A thing of beauty may remain a joy forever, if you let the other fellow marry her.

Declares It Should Be Properly Paved Its Entire Length

By CHARLES B. GUTHRIE

In all the activity Glendale has enjoyed during the past three years, the attention of the investors has been directed to Brand boulevard, Broadway, Colorado and others, while the one great thoroughfare that is entitled to no small part of that attention has been overlooked.

Central avenue, beginning at San Fernando road at the south and ending into Kenneth road at the north, runs straight as a die until it enters Casa Verdugo, 80 feet wide and well paved from Broadway north. Immediate paving from Broadway south to San Fernando road is not only advisable but imperative. At present the middle section is fairly good but the sides of the street are rotten, barely passable. Begin now to plan for a great Wilshire boulevard on this magnificent street, put on top splendid paving and Central avenue will contribute many more thousands of dollars in taxes on account of increased valuation in abutting property.

Now is the time to emulate the example of San Fernando road. Here's a monument to the energy, determination and vision of Lloyd H. Wilson.

Central avenue should have the same kind of lights from San Fernando road to Arden, on to Kenneth road, through no man's land - but unfortunately the city can't go outside her boundaries.

Light Central! Pave Central! Watch Central! Every piece of property on the street will show such a marked advance as to much more than justify the expense. There are great things in future for this street. Big outside interests are casting eyes at the choice locations on Central avenue and the future development means much to the entire city.

OMAR TENT NO. NINE HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The regular meeting of Omar tent No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, was held last night at Masonic temple, with Mrs. Evelyn Pierce, worthy high priestess, in charge. Plans are progressing for the next meeting, which will be in the form of a May party, when the members of Hollywood White Shrine will be the special guests.

On June 23, Omar tent will start the activities for raising money for the new Masonic temple. There will be a baked ham and sweet potato dinner given on the lawn of the B. F. Bourne residence, 203 East Maple street. Seats will be provided for about 500 people. Immediately after the dinner there will be cabaret entertainment. Mr. Bourne is in charge of the dinner. Captain D. Ripley Jackson will have charge of the cabaret program. The ladies of the tent will serve the dinner.

It is planned to raise enough money for at least two bonds, which are $100 each. The dinner will also start the activities for raising money for everything that is needed in the new temple.

PURELY PERSONAL

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of Central Christian church, delivered an address on "Religious Education" last evening in the San Fernando high school auditorium to an attentive audience of 700 to 800 persons. Dr. J. H. Francis, popular Baptist minister of Los Angeles, was also a speaker.

T. A. Williams, formerly a Glendale resident, has returned from Phoenix, Ariz., where he had been for two years past, and is now rooming at 434 North Louise.

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue will keep open house on Sunday, May 6, from 2 p. m. until 5, it being their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They will be pleased to greet their many friends.

REBEKAHS GIVE NOVEL FASHION ENTERTAINMENT

The dance and hair-fashion show given last night by the Glendale Rebekah Lodge at the Odd Fellows hall proved to be most interesting and included the following style illustrations: "Cleopatra," with hennaed hair, with Miss Jackie Saunders as model; a "French Court Lady," with white transformations, with Mrs. H. C. Smith as model; the "Glorious Blonde," a marcelled, modern high hair dress, modeled by Mrs. Loretta Schwitters; the "War Flapper," with big ear flaps, short skirts, etc., with Bernice Kaiser as model; Mrs. Allen as grandmother, had her hair dressed soft and low; three models of afternoon style, all high hair dresses, with fancy combs, modeled by Mesdames Pease, Hall and Estery; the "Spanish Vamp," modeled by Mrs. Little; a "Red Head Bobbed Head," with natural wave water-wave, modeled by Miss Mildred Vale. There were also two afternoon butterflies, with hair dressed in the afternoon, the "La Opera," high hair dress marcelled, with Miss Lucy Strothers as model. The final number was "Rebekah at the Well," with Rebekah regalia costume.

All of the ear rings, combs and hair dresses were furnished by the Walcott Beauty Shop, the work being done by their operators, who also gave a public demonstration of two hair dresses. Mrs. Andrews of Burbank was the model whose hair was dressed in the vamp style, marcelled, and Miss Larene De Motte was the model for the modern bob marcelled.

MEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINS TROPICO PRESBYTERIAN

An audience which filled the auditorium of the Tropic Presbyterian church came out to enjoy the program provided Friday night by the men's club of the church, which consisted of numbers presented by the Glee club of the Bible institute, including songs by the Harmony Quartet.

The leader of the Glee club is J. B. Trowbridge, who came from the same town in Delaware county, Iowa, as did Dr. James F. Winnard, pastor of the local church. They grew up together, and preached their first sermons on the same day in the same church, one occupying the pulpit in the morning, the other in the evening. They had not met until Friday night, for 30 years, and it was a great renewal of old acquaintance.

A silver offering was taken at the close of the program and the Glee club and the men's club, which will not meet again until next month and then for a business session.

JEWISH SISTERHOOD HOLDS MEETING

The Jewish Sisterhood held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, May 1, at the home of Mrs. I. Grossman, 403 West California. Mrs. Goodman Phillips called the meeting to order, the business was quickly disposed of and the afternoon given over to a social time. Mrs. I. Grossman and Mrs. J. Gold were joint hostesses and arranged tables of bridge and "500" for the sisterhood members and many guests who were present. After the games, delicious refreshments and coffee were served and all enjoyed a pleasant afternoon. The next meeting, June 5, will be at the home of Mrs. H. H. Harris, 1144 North Brand.

KAFKEE KLATCH IS DELICIOUS PARTY

At the delightful kaffee klatch given at the residence of Mrs. Don Erskine on South Maryland Friday afternoon, about 25 adults and a good many children were present to enjoy the fine program provided. The home of the hostess was beautifully decorated in the colors of the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school and a lovely sum was realized after the game, delicious refreshments and coffee were served and all enjoyed a pleasant afternoon. The next meeting, June 5, will be at the home of Mrs. H. H. Harris, 1144 North Brand.

MRS. MARY LINDSAY TO TAKE VACATION TRIP

Mrs. Mary E. Lindsay, supervisor in rentals at Yale Brothers Realty company, has gone to Imperial valley for two weeks on a combined business and pleasure trip. She is an old resident and property owner of El Centro, having lived there a number of years, and was one of the leading members of the Women's club. Mrs. Lindsay has many warm friends residing there who are looking forward to her visit with pleasure.

OLIVERS ARE SURPRISED BY GROUP OF FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oliver were surprised by a group of twenty-five Glendale friends who called at their home in Tujunga on Thursday night to give them a farewell party. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver will leave next Tuesday for a two months motor trip to Chicago, where they will visit relatives. The evening was spent in music, dancing and cards, after which refreshments were served.

MISS AUDREY HALL ENTERTAINS FOR VETERANS

Miss Audrey Hall of 110 West Burchett street, aide of the Daughters of Veterans, was hostess to twenty guests at a card party given at her home Thursday night for the benefit of the permanent G. A. R. fund of the California-Nevada department.

TRIP AROUND THE WORLD MAKES BIG FINANCIAL RETURN

Members of Circle No. 8 of the Women's Society of the Glendale Presbyterian Church are well satisfied with the returns in pleasure and cash from their "Trip Around the World," which was staged at the church Friday night.

Each traveler on entering the church received tickets for the countries to be visited—Mexico, Hawaiian Islands, Japan and America, four different rooms of the church representing these countries.

In "Mexico" the tourists were entertained by Miss Rodriguez and Mr. Rodriguez, Spanish young people from Azusa who were guests of Miss Horach, and who played violin and piano numbers. Chili con carne was served by way of refreshment.

At the Honolulu stop Hawaiian songs were played on a Brunswick and candy bananas were served. During the Japan Miss Elizabeth Motter sang a "Japanese Love Song," and her associates served rice cakes.

America was the most important country visited and there all joined in the singing of "Star Spangled Banner," other program numbers being:

A vocal solo by O. W. Anderson, a saxophone solo by William Bode, accompanied by the piano by Herbert Henning; a radio number provided by J. A. Newton from a Los Angeles broadcasting station; piano solo by Mrs. Smith, organist at St. Mark's, and a whistling solo by Mabel Todd. The American refreshments served were punch and wafers.

The proceeds of the entertainment will go to the fund for the furnishing of the new Presbyterian church.

MRS. LYANS ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF HER DAUGHTER

Mrs. Robert T. Lyans of 511 North Jackson street entertained with a party at her home yesterday afternoon in celebration of her daughter, Jean Lyans. The dining table was centered with a miniature May pole, at the top of which was attached balloons from which streamers extended to each place card. The color scheme of pink and blue was carried out in the favors of nut baskets and also in the floral decorations.

Covers were laid for Marjorie Laugland, Helen McCormick, Mildred Fife, Fern Johnson, Helen Sloan, Russell and Albert Newton, Clarita McCormick, Frances McCormick, Lucy McCormick, Lottie Hunsley and Jean Lyans. A large birthday cake was a feature of the refreshments.

CHAPTER B A OF P. E. O. HAS BIG ATTENDANCE

About twenty members were present at the all-day meeting of Chapter B A of the P. E. O., held Friday at 10:30 at the home of Mrs. John Clark, 946 North Louise street.

A business session was held in the morning over which Mrs. Edith Arnold presided and at which Mrs. Edith Caldwell was admitted to the chapter by initiation.

Mrs. Clark and Mrs. A. S. Chase were hostesses at the luncheon which was followed by a program including a paper on the history of Java by Mrs. Alice Ripley. Miss Gladys Woodard contributed a piano solo, "The Faun," by Chamade, and Miss Isabel Tonsey gave readings.

WILSONS ENTERTAIN AT DINNER TOMORROW

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson of 1216 South Adams street will entertain at a dinner party Sunday, their guests will include Mrs. Jane Wilson, Phoebe and Ben Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peat of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kelling, Hazel Kelling, Mrs. E. Schlappie, Emma and Roy Schlappie of Hollywood. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson and children, Walter, Thelma and James, are leaving Glendale on May 23 for a five month motor trip to Iowa. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Peat.

NELL QUINN ENTERTAINS SEMI-MONTHLY CLUB

Members of the Semi-Monthly club were delightfully entertained Thursday by Miss Nell Quinn of New York City, the cousin and house guest of Mrs. Peter Perry. The Sunset Canyon Country Club was the scene of the luncheon and card party which followed it at which Mrs. Doll made high score, and her mother, Mrs. Heusman, the second prize. Guests were: Mesdames Doll, Heusman, Chappius, Hamilton, Brennan, Keeler, Monaghan, Rudel, Ferry, Anna Smith, Mary O'Brien and the hostess.

MRS. YOST IS GIVEN FAREWELL RECEPTION

Mrs. W. N. Stamps of 436 West Colorado street and Mrs. Merrill Russell were hostesses on Thursday at a luncheon party and travel shower for Mrs. Robert Yost, who leaves with her husband on May 15 for a six weeks' trip to New York. The guests were former residents of Riverdale drive and included Mrs. Robert Yost, Mrs. Ledbetter, Mrs. A. S. Chase, Mrs. Wm. Farlander, Mrs. Barton Manbert, Mrs. Kemper Noland, Mrs. Barrington, Mrs. George Squires, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Colby and Mrs. P. O. Lucas.

LEPER MISSIONARY TO SPEAK IN CITY

Mrs. Dr. Franklin Kelly, formerly a missionary to the lepers at Hinan, China, will be the speaker at the federated missionary meeting to be held Monday, May 7, at 2 p. m. in the Glendale Presbyterian church, corner of Broadway and Cedar. All missionary societies in Glendale and nearby cities are cordially invited to be present. Mrs. Logie will conduct the devotional exercises and officers will be elected.

ARROWHEAD GIVES GLENDALE PARTY THE LAW'S LIMIT

Making an early return home from their fishing trip because they had caught all the fish they were allowed, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Echols of Roberts & Echols, arrived in Glendale Wednesday after a delightful vacation of a few days at Arrowhead.

Fishing formed the most popular sport, and Mr. Echols reports it excellent at this resort. There were plenty of steelhead trout weighing 12 ounces on the average. The largest fish caught on the trip was a two-pounder. Mr. Echols owns a cabin in the Arrowhead camp, where the party made its headquarters. They had planned to stay a day or two longer, but having caught the limit of fish and having eaten all they could, they found it necessary to return in order to save the generous catch.

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCK

204 MEMBERS ARE LINED UP BY C. OF C.

Several Teams Have Yet to Turn in Reports; Fund Increasing

EAGLE ROCK, May 5.—Two hundred and four members were listed on the entire membership roll of the Chamber of Commerce in the count taken yesterday at the third luncheon served in the Woman's Clubhouse for the campaign workers. Seventy-five dollars was added to the service fund which brought the total subscription to this $3000 fund up to $1583 to date. The membership returns have been climbing higher each day as the canvassers warm up to their work. Thirty-two signed cards were turned in at the first luncheon, on Wednesday. Thursday the number increased to fifty-two, and yesterday to fifty-four. A great many captains were unable to be present at the luncheon yesterday, and some had no representative present, so there are a number of teams as yet unheard from. The membership list will run about two hundred and thirty with all reports in.

From now on all the campaigners who have exhausted their allotted supply of prospect cards can call it a "free for all" and go after anyone whom they think has an interest in the chamber of commerce. On Monday another luncheon will take place in the clubhouse, at which time all those present will be the guests of H. G. Warren, who has been an outstanding figure in the membership campaign "on his own." A final report will be made by the workers this time.

The luncheon yesterday was featured by a spirit of rivalry between the teams and the captains. This spirit is turning the campaign into a contest. A number of the leaders pledged themselves to account for ten members each at the next report, W. R. Johnston and H. G. Warren among them. C. W. Young, not to be outdone, announced that his team will "bring home the bacon" with a minimum of twenty-five subscriptions next Monday.

Enthusiastic applause greeted the report of one of the captains at yesterday's luncheon that a Los Angeles business man who has taken an interest in purchasing local real estate, but is not located here, volunteered twenty-five dollars toward the service fund, and took out a year's membership in the local chamber of commerce.

Mr. Stevenson, associated with Mr. Schoube in the organization work, made a short talk following the service of the meal, telling of the far-reaching influence of the chamber of commerce organization in the little town of Paris, Illinois, some years ago, and explaining that there is no overestimating the importance of the chamber of commerce as a thoroughly and soundly organized body.

H. G. Warren made a number of timely remarks regarding the campaign, and President O. J. Root made an enthusiastic suggestion that the chamber of commerce adopt the plan of a weekly get-together luncheon where everyone meets his neighbor on a plane of good-fellowship and discovers that "we are not so bad as some fellows picture us," to quote Mr. Root. Shirley Allen led the luncheon guests in singing "There's a Hole in the Bottom of the Sea," and "Keep the Home Fires Burning." The outlook for the full membership of three hundred inside of a week is bright, according to B. Schoube.

NEW BY-LAWS WILL BE APPROVED BY C. OF C. TUES.

EAGLE ROCK, May 5.—Tuesday evening the entire new membership of the chamber of commerce will meet in the City Hall to approve the new set of by-laws. All who join between now and next Tuesday will be requested to be present to take part in this meeting. It promises to be one of the vital meetings of the organization campaign and will probably present the largest get-together of chamber of commerce members that has ever taken place in Eagle Rock. There is an organized, co-operative spirit developing among the entire group of members in the newly organized body that has been lacking in the preceding organizations. A few have been carrying the burden of responsibility and plans, while now every man is literally fighting for an opportunity to outdo his fellow-worker in active interest in the duties involved.

PARIS, May 5.—American Ambassador Herrick, acting on request of the French athletic authorities, has called to the president of the American Athletic Union, suggesting that the disqualification of Charles Paddock be rescinded and that the American sprinter be authorized to compete in the meet here, in order to avoid dissension that threatens to cripple the next Olympic game and impair the authority of the athletic bodies.

An illustrated children's sermon, five or seven minutes long, will be given next Sunday morning. A blackboard will be used by the pastor to illustrate the theme: "Dispensing Little Things."

"Keeping Door" is the pastor's Sunday morning theme. The choir will sing a special number. Their work is exceptionally good these days. Mrs. Smythe, who delighted us a few Sundays ago with her violin, has consented to play again next Sunday morning.

The pastor is using the Wednesday evening mid-week service to expound the Apostles' creed. He takes the third sentence: "I believe in the Holy Ghost," for next Wednesday. There is a song service at 7:30 and he speaks at 8 p. m.

"The Luggage of Life" is the pastor's sermon theme for next Sunday night. How things accumulate, why a child wants to carry something and why we are not happy unless we are loaded, will be touched upon. Special music by the choir, with Mr. Fisher leading the spirited song service.

COURT OF HONOR TO BE HELD AT EAGLE ROCK

Second Session to Open at Presbyterian Church
Sunday

EAGLE ROCK, May 5.—The second session of the Court of Honor of the Verdugo Hills District Council of Boy Scouts of America, will be held at the Eagle Rock Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening, May 6, at 8 o'clock, according to Capt. William C. Wattles, chairman.

"We are anticipating one of the largest and best Courts of Honor we have ever held in the district," he declared. "Scouts and their parents are coming from Glendale, Burbank, Tujunga, La Crescenta and a large delegation of Eagle Rock folks are expected to be on hand."

There are an unusually large number of second and first class badges to be presented to the scouts in addition to a goodly number of merit badges. The awarding of prizes for the first period of the Troop Achievement Contest will be a very popular event. Roy L. Kent, past president of the Rotary Club, and treasurer of the scout council, will preside at the beautiful Rotary Club banner to Troop No. 2, Glendale, as the first prize. The second prize will be presented by A. R. Eastman, president of the scout council, to Troop No. 1, Tujunga. Troop No. 1, Eagle Rock, will be presented the third prize by Chas. L. Chandler, scout commissioner.

This session of the Court of Honor is expected to be very impressive. A program appropriate to the occasion has been arranged which will include music by the Boy Scout orchestra of Troop No. 2, Glendale. Mr. Chandler will tell in brief of the religious policy of the Boy Scout movement and Mr. Eastman will state some of the activities of the scouts. The functions of the Court of Honor will be told by Captain Wattles.

The speaker of the evening will be Baroness Ottilie de Ropp, noted Russian lecturer and author, who will tell why Russia crashed the Boy Scout movement and is now trying to stifle the Christian church.

"We desire to fill the church to capacity," stated Captain Wattles, "and so we extend to every citizen of Glendale a hearty invitation to be present. It will be an evening well worth the small effort to get there and the boys who get their awards will be highly honored at your presence."

AMBER YOUNG AND SORORITY SISTER ENTERTAIN

Fifty Guests to Enjoy Cards and Dancing in the Garden

EAGLE ROCK, May 5.—Miss Amber Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Young, 900 Rock Glen avenue, and Miss Doris Cannon of Pomona, will be joint hostesses at a charming sport-dance at the residence of the Youngs tonight. Cards and dancing will be the entertainment for the evening. Miss Young and Miss Cannon, both "rushes," are providing the party for older members of the sorority.

A special dancing floor has been constructed in the garden, and the grounds hung with many-colored lights. Carney's five-piece orchestra, headed by a local boy, has been engaged to provide the music for the dance. Lavender and pink is the color motif of all the decorations. Arrangements have been made for fifty guests.

APPLICATIONS FOR C. OF C. POSITION ARE RECEIVED

Numerous Candidates for Paid Secretaryship Are Presenting Recommendations

EAGLE ROCK, May 5.—Five or six applications have already been received by O. J. Root, president of the chamber of commerce, for the position of paid secretary to handle the work of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce. No public announcement of the names of these applicants has yet been made. It is highly probable that an outside man will be called in to take the position, unless a local man of big ability puts in an application for the work. In event of anyone coming into the place from another district he will be called upon to make his home here so that he can have his work under detailed observation.

Glendale Is a Friendly City

The merchants of Glendale are not only dealers in merchandise; their only interest is not just to sell you something—it is more than that—it is a spirit of helpfulness and service to you.

It is a city where you can shop in comfort. The streets are not congested. There is not the hurly-burly and pushing through which make the streets almost impassable.

It is not a hardship to make a shopping tour here, and, too, you shop in comfort.

The object of this little editorial is to bring to the consciousness of our fellow citizens the many advantages that Glendale stores hold for them. Glendale is a friendly city. So trade at home.

Truths in Epigram

The vastness of the universe renders foolish the supposition that this little planet is the only inhabited one.—Swing.

FOR CHARITY'S SAKE

May 8 is to be "Bundle Day." It is a date to be remembered. There is to be observance of it in a hundred towns of southern California. In Pasadena, and perhaps some other places, the good work was performed in advance. The day generally set apart, and dedicated to a special charity is of date mentioned.

The bundles to be collected will contain clothing. The clothing is for the suffering people of the Near East. Thousands of them are without garments to cover their nakedness. They are unable to live in accordance with the accepted decencies. They are without material to wrap the bodies of the new-born. Exposed to every hardship of heat or cold, they go their hopeless ways. They are the victims of the devouring flame of war, more to be pitied than their fellows who perished. The only light they see, the only inkling of dawn, is in the spirit of charity, stirring the hearts of men and women of this prosperous land.

In many a household there is surplus clothing, discarded but wearable. It hangs in closets, fills trunks in the basement, gathering dust or inviting moths. There are skirts and waists that have gone out of fashion; shoes no longer regarded as presentable; coats that may shine at the elbows and trousers bagging at the knees. All these articles, and more, devoted to making Near East bundles big and abundant, could be devoted to a highly useful purpose.

So many times has the distress in the Near East been portrayed in poignant detail, that there is no need here to repeat the account. The truth is known. Familiarity with it does not lessen its potency as an appeal. The duty of alleviating suffering does not have to be set forth. The sense of it is in the consciousness and the conscience of humanity. Particularly should it touch the people of this great and fortunate nation, under God, spared from contact with the horrors of war.

Here is a manifest duty that touches every citizen. The opportunity to help knocks at the door of charity. Who would shut the door?

Near East Relief "Bundle Day" is national. It is planned to gather in southern California at least 125 tons of clothing. General headquarters are at 517 Wright and Callender building, Los Angeles, but bundles may be shipped to 172 South Utah street, in the same city.

This region is generous and kind. Sometimes the people may need to be reminded, but having been reminded, they may be depended upon to do the rest.

A LOYALTY DAY

Recently New York had a "Loyalty day," a feature of which was a parade of boys. "But why," asks an editor of that city, "is it absolutely necessary to have a 'Loyalty day' for boys?" Doubtless a natural query.

The editor himself is one of the reasons. The papers in which his writings appear in great volume, constitute an appalling set of reasons. It is quite essential, that, as contempt for government is sought to be instilled in the public mind, something be done to offset the efforts of the disloyal. The time to teach boys is when they are boys, and impressionable. To permit them to come to maturity without specific instruction as to the duties and obligations of citizenship, would be a dangerous experiment.

There is no desire to cite the editor in question as one of a type. The papers with which he is connected do their utmost to impugn the good faith of the government, to disparage and bring into contempt any man, of any political faith, who dares take issue with their opinions; these opinions at variance with the spirit of the constitution, and often premised on unwarranted assumptions. They might have been formulated in Berlin or Moscow, but they are passed out as the very gospel of American patriotism. There are other publications as grossly un-American. There are monthly magazines instinct with hatred for the environment that, most unwisely, supports them. Their writers are alien of soul and in methods of thought. They seek to tear down all that the republic has builded.

"Loyalty Day" is a form of self defense. It is a rebuke to the editorial trend that in time of war would find expression in terms of treason.

A LESSON IN HAZING

The finding of the skeleton of a student who had been hazed by his associates and then disappeared, has stirred Northwestern university, of Evanston, Ill., deeply. The theory that the victim was murdered is advanced, but hardly is tenable. It is morally certain that no body of students would deliberately kill the individual they hazed. There is no apparent likelihood that having accidentally caused his death, they could have kept the tragic secret. The natural hypothesis is that of suicide, due perhaps to the humiliation of a painful experience. Any view that may be taken lends itself but imperfectly to support of hazing as a practice.

There are varieties of hazing. In some institutions it resolves itself virtually into part of the discipline. As a rule the students at West Point or Annapolis, even if they do haze the underclassmen, are not brutal or cowardly. When the line is overstepped, the penalty is quick and severe. In ordinary colleges where hazing is part of the student program, it often goes to an extreme of cruelty. To humiliate a fellow student, to cause him to be ridiculous, is to injure his self respect. It is a form of bullying for which there should be no toleration.

At Northwestern university hazing is said to have been habitual and to have approached the status of criminal assault. The effect of this could not be other than evil either for the aggressors or the objects of their abuse.

A woman has a man beaten to a frazzle in one respect. She can turn her temper loose without saying a lot of unprintable things.

The average man thinks that his bump of generosity is at least three times as large as it actually is.

WHY NOT TRY THIS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

"A union of all who love and serve in the interest of all who suffer."

Last week I heard a noble old man suggest such a

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

union as a relief measure for the ills of the world. It struck me as a beautiful idea, the one big brotherhood of loving servants of the race, the dreamers and the workers, the thinkers and the planners, without regard to creed or color. People who are willing to serve wherever the need appears, whether the needy are human brothers or the little furred and feathered kin who depend on us as we depend on God.

One of the most pathetic facts in the world is that those who love and serve are so often divided by race or prejudice, or worse still, by restricted sympathies, so that the loving service is short circuited and to a large extent wasted.

Education, after all, is more a widening of sympathies and interests than a gathering of facts or the mastering of rules. Narrow people are of all who breathe the most unhappy.

Yesterday I talked to two women whose husbands are suffering with nervous disorders. Neither of the men had the gift of friendliness, neither had ever conceived of loving those not of his blood kindred, much less had neither conceived the idea of service not imposed by family obligation. They were immured in a wall of self-imposed loneliness and they were tortured because their love had no expression.

I talked to one of the men for hours and all he replied to my suggestions was: "I am not interested in that."

He did not want pets because they required attention; children got on his nerves; public work was "all nonsense;" humanitarians were "cranks;" folks who goaded were "crazy;" reformers were "fool idealists" and politicians "thieves and grafters."

As for the heathen—meaning non-Christians—God intended them to be poor and ignorant or he would not have made them so—just as if anybody were born fully educated and with a bank account at command.

What can one do with a psychology like that? Is it any wonder the man is broken? Health means contacts, it means circulation, not only of blood but of ideas, love, sympathy. When you deny expression to such contacts your soul congeals within you and happiness is not attainable. But most of all health comes through service, for more than any one thing, service brings contacts with one's fellows.

I never see a woman in a fur coat without wondering what paralyzed her imagination. I never see a lonely old maid flopping about trying to disperse the shadows of loneliness without thinking of the big full lives of certain unmarried women of my acquaintance who have adopted duties, children, causes, animals, anything, so it but has a need that can not be met by the unaided efforts of the thing protected.

Some day we will have the one big union; but before the day arrives we will have laid away selfishness, bigotry and all thoughts of special privilege.

The great Creative Mind did not make sentient creatures that some should suffer and others enjoy. He made all that all might serve each other and all together find the road to a glorious new life.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

DISCUSSION

Robert Burlinson, New York: "My chief difficulty in English is in the use of the words would and should, in certain constructions. I quote as follows: 'Were I not Alexander, I would be Diogenes.' The writer evidently meant, 'Were I not Alexander, I should like to be Diogenes.' Since the first form seems to conflict with a rule recently laid down by you, and many good writers and speakers use the same form in similar constructions, in the subjunctive mood, which is liable to create doubt in one's mind as to the correct form, will you kindly advise?"

Mr. Nicholson: There is a flaw in the foregoing argument. When one says, "I told you that I would go," a promise is made in the word would (used in the first person). On the other hand, a wish is expressed in the following sentence: "I told you that I should like to go." Like means desire, and would (in the first person) means desire as well as promise. Therefore, one would hardly put I, would, and like together.

Furthermore, if would (in the first person) means desire, it is proper to write, "Were I not Alexander, I would be Diogenes." Of course the wording of any sentence may be changed, often without changing the sense. But such change does not always make for improvement. Therefore, while both "I would be Diogenes" and "I should like to be Diogenes" are correct, there is no question that the latter of the two is the weaker. Finally, in the first person, one may use would to express desire, or the word like; but if like is used, the auxiliary verb should be the word should.

Yesterday's Error
Wrong: The remaining half-dozen institutions, which "The Right Word" has recorded on the subject, recommend either method.

Queries

W. Halpern, New York: "Will you please inform me if the following is grammatically correct: 'Owing to our offices having been destroyed by fire, we are temporarily conducting, etc.'?"

Answer: First, an apostrophe should follow the letter s in the word offices. Secondly, the latter part of the sentence should not begin with we. A grammatical revision of the sentence would read as follows: Owing to our offices' having been destroyed by fire, the business of Blank & Co. will be temporarily conducted at The following revision is preferable: Our offices having been destroyed by fire, we are temporarily

ROSSMOYNE SALES MAKE RECORD IN TWO DAYS

$150,000 Worth of Property Is Sold on New Tract

One hundred and fifty thousand dollars' worth of property sold in two days is the record of Ross-moyne, the new property which the Haddock-Nibley company is putting on in Glendale. So great has been the demand for this property that it has been necessary to requisition the services of additional crews of engineers, and these are being worked overtime in an effort to stake out lots to meet the present demand.

The layout for the first two units is now practically finished. Streets have been torn through the groves of orange and olive trees fronting on Glendale avenue, and preparations are now being made for the installation of sidewalks and curbing along Glendale avenue. This latter thoroughfare has been widened a distance of forty-five feet which will give the street for the entire length of Ross-moyne an average width of one hundred and twenty-five feet, making of it one of the finest boulevards in Southern California. Contracts for two bridges across the Arroyo have also been let, and the pile drive is now busy on the first of these.

The first of the tract houses of Ross-moyne have recently been completed—this sets at the junction of Doran street and Glendale avenue and follows the Egyptian type of architecture, which is to characterize the other buildings on the tract. Work has also begun on the main administration building. This is located on the east side of Verdugo road and is to be a replica of the Temple of Ramases III. This latter building is being arranged to provide suitable quarters for the sales people of the company, and also suitable retiring rooms for visitors. The temple occupies a commanding eminence, overlooking the major portion of the property. A street is to be opened directly fronting on the temple, which will cross the Arroyo and connect with the present Mountain street and a scenic road will also be run from Mountain street, encircling the high mesa on the north end of the property.

"WORLD'S A STAGE"
OPENS ON SUNDAY
AT THE T. D. & L.

An interesting study in contrasts is accorded in the settings of "The World's a Stage," the vital picture written by Elinor Glyn, portraying the inside life of a screen actress in Hollywood, which comes to the T. D. & L. Theatre Sunday and Monday.

The spectator is first introduced to a play within a play, Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" being enacted by a cheap, barnstorming troupe. The curtain lifts in a small city "opry" house of a western hamlet, and we catch an insight into the trials of playing the road by a "fly-by-night" troupe.

The scene then shifts, and we are greeted with a studio set in full operation as it is found in Hollywood. There sits the director and there are the players. Close at hand is the cameraman and the continuity clerk who reads off the scenes. Then as the story progresses the studio is forgotten as the heroine is plunged into the domestic triangle of her other life—the life away from the studio. "The World's a Stage" is a powerfully dramatic picture, possessing genuine novelty and capitalizing acted by Dorothy Phillips and an all-star cast. It is a screen sensation.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK AND ITS ENVIRONS

MONTE MONTAGUE GOES BACK TO STARRING IN HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS

Burbank's night patrol has gone back to starring in the movies. Monte Montague has turned his patrol work over to Ira Herbert of Glendale. The studio has written of him as follows:

"Declared to be one of the screen's best western finds Monte Montague, a burly, regular out-door American man who is decidedly quick with his six-shooter or a wallop from his brawny arm, has been signed by the Hollywood United Studios to star in a series of two-reel western super feature stories for release by the Independent Film association.

"Montague represents on the screen a fellow of kindly impulses and clean habits, a type admired by every man, woman and child in the country.

"He was born in Kentucky. For years Montague followed circus life, riding bucking horses, doing tight rope walking, acrobatic work, etc., with nearly all the big road shows. In 1915 he was sparring partner with Fred Fulton, heavyweight prize fighter.

"Montague has the distinction of having worked under England and America's greatest directors—Sir Herbert Berthold Tree and David W. Griffith, for whom he played heavy roles in many notable screen plays, his first work being in 'Macbeth'.

"Montague also played the heavy in all of the Elmo Lincoln serials at the Universal studios. He is considered one of the best types in western roles that has been 'discovered' in many months and exhibitors and the picture public are looking forward with the greatest interest to the first production in which he will appear as star in his own right."

Monte plans to have his wife for leading lady at the first opportunity.

METHODISTS PLAN FOR BANQUET

The Methodist Missionary society enjoyed a delightful luncheon Friday noon at the church. This was followed by a business meeting and program. Reports of the convention at Van Nuys were given by the women who attended the rally. Mrs. Clivier, Mrs. Crafts, Mrs. Van Luven, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. White represented the Burbank society at the rally.

"The Question of Democracy" was the topic for the study hour and was conducted by Mrs. Van Luven. The theme of the lesson concerned the racial question, bringing out the idea that though colored persons were entitled to equal rights of citizenship, they did not always have the same rights granted to them.

After the meeting the civic committee of the society met at the Rev. Allen home to plan for arrangements for a mothers and daughters' banquet for sometime within two or three weeks.

The enigma ended today and Mrs. Hare's side won by a narrow margin of four points, this side having 69 and Mrs. Cox's had earned 76 points. The "enigma" contest was an interesting one which has been going on for many months. Mrs. Holomon has been the leader in charge of Mrs. Hare's division since she has not been able to be present for the past few meetings. The losing side has not yet announced what reward they plan to give the winners.

BOYS' LIVES ARE ENDANGERED BY COLD PLUNGE

People using Stough Canyon reservoir may notice a certain peculiar taste in the water, not usually noticed, for police Officer Gates found about thirty young boys swimming in it Friday afternoon. The boys did not know the water was used for drinking purposes when they splashed into its cold depths.

The parents will be more alarmed at their swimming in such cold water than worrying about the water itself.

"The reservoir is more than thirty feet deep and if a boy were seized with cramps he could drown in half dozen other boys," said Judge Crawford when told of the episode. "There should be a fence about it that would keep boys out," the judge suggested.

When in doubt a wise man gets out—if possible.

The new spring coats being designed for late season wear are slir line affairs, even tight, and they all feature the side fastening. It had to do with the acquisition of the Oregon territory between the forty-second parallel and the 54 deg. and 40 min., a section of the northwest that had been jointly held by the British and the Americans since 1818. Both countries claimed the territory through exploration and settlement. A Boston sea captain

JOHN LANKERSHIM IS ARRESTED IN BURBANK

Booze and Burbank and friends brought misfortune to John Lankershim, 41-year-old son of the wealthy landowner, Colonel John Lankershim of the town of Lankershim. An S. O. S. sent out by two men—R. K. Peters and K. R. Bell—was the beginning of the trouble.

Bell and Peters were arrested at 2:30 Friday morning by Officers Ackerly and Goodspeed. They were taken to the city jail to recover from the effects of their bibulous all night carousal. Later Judge Crawford, after their pleading guilty to the charge of intoxication, fined them $75. They had to send for financial re-enforcement. This came at 3 o'clock in the afternoon when two friends brought in the money.

The two friends, John Lankershim and C. F. Loring were so intoxicated that it was thought best to let them occupy the cells that their friends had occupied earlier in the day. Now the police officers are watchfully waiting for the friends of the friends.

For the British, the Hudson's Bay company had established several trading posts north of the Columbia river. American missionaries had settled there from time to time, and by 1844 there were about 1,000 Americans living in that section.

In 1818 Great Britain and the United States made a treaty of joint ownership for ten years, which treaty was renewed in 1827 for an indefinite period. After the annexation of Texas, the American determination to take this territory as far north as 54 deg. and 40 min. at all hazards ran rampant through the country. But as war developed with Mexico, the aggressive spirit of the United States was modified and a treaty was made with England fixing the northern boundary of the United States in the northwest at 49 degrees.

FINE MUSICAL AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The entertainment given last evening in Central Christian church by the Usona Male Quartet, assisted by Prof. E. Stillwell Moore, accompanist and Vern Isom, violin virtuoso, was one of rare merit. The members of the quartet are Messrs. Charles Vincent Clay and Julius Phillips, tenors; C. H. Russell and Charles LeRoy, basses. All of the six men are residents of Burbank except Mr. Phillips, who claims Glendale as his home, and have won high honors in work with the Burbank choral club. The quartet gave several double numbers, Mr. Clay and Mr. Phillips single numbers, and Mr. Moore a double number. The latter also gave a special song at the close, requested by his close friend and business associate, John M. Ray, who was instrumental in getting the singers to come to this city.

Vern Isom, the young violinist whom all Burbank is proud to honor, gave a double and a single number, both of which were persistently encored, as indeed, was every number on the program. The coming of this splendid musical organization, five of the members of which live in another city, to give a high class entertainment in Glendale, can but cement the ties that bind together the two municipalities which join boundaries and which are constantly engaged in a common fight to retain their positions as independent cities.

Mrs. Mary Timmons recently returned from an extended visit in Chicago, with two of her sons. The youngest son of the family, Frank, returned with her. He was a resident of Glendale for several years, previous to 1920.

SONG

Come walk with me a merry mile
A merry mile, a merry mile,
Come rest with me upon the stile,
Where all the birds are singing,
Come smile with me a happy smile,
A happy smile, a happy smile,
For Spring is dressed in gorgeous style,
With all her flowers springing.

Come sing with me a merry song,
A merry song, a merry song;
As hand in hand we walk along,
The whither we are going,
And nothing in the world is wrong,
And nothing wrong, and nothing wrong,
So lift our voices clear and strong,
And send the echoes blowing.

And at the twilight rest with me
Come, rest with me and rest with me,
Where peace and happiness shall be,
Where hush and dusk are keeping Their vigil at the close of day
The close of day, the close of day,
And forth the shadows come to play
And moonbeams shyly peeping.

Come leave the city far away,
And far away and far away,
The world be ours at break of day
The dawn come splashing o'er us,
And through the canyon, up the hill,
And up the hill and up the hill,
The boughs with birds that trill and trill,
The glad, glad day before us.

SUMMIT HEIGHTS, THE CREAM OF MONTROSE, IS ON THE MARKET

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR SUNSHINE, FOR ALTITUDE AND FOR GENERAL HEALTHFULNESS? HERE THEY ARE

Summit Heights, Thirty Beautiful Home Lots, Waiting to Be Tenanted; There Sunshine Reigns Supreme, Fogs Unknown; Investigate Now

Where the "desert shall blossom as a rose," where fog is almost unknown and where there is more sunshine to the square inch than in any other part of California, Summit Heights greets the home-seeker as the newest subdivision open to the public, with one of the oldest and best inducements held out to the buyer—healthfulness.

This subdivision comprises 10 acres of ranch land, which has lain dormant for the last 35 years awaiting man's aid to make it the garden spot for which it was intended. C. E. Moore, who has been a California booster for almost forty years, has taken over this tract of land, and is supplying it with water from his well, which is located on the adjoining ten acres, where he and two other families are building delightful homes. Mr. Moore states that he has struck enough water from this one well to furnish 150 families, whereas the tract will offer but thirty lots.

The tract is located on the north side of Michigan boulevard, between La Crescenta and Tujunga, beginning at the corner of Boston avenue. It is to be divided into 8 half-acre lots and 20 smaller sites. The work of clearing the land is under way at the present time, and the lots will be leveled and in good condition in a very short time. Electric lights and telephones are available. Building restrictions are such that the tract is desirable to the home-seeker who desires a suburban residence.

"We are especially anxious to sell this property to the home-seeker," stated Mr. Moore. "It is a good thing for speculation, but the property is so ideally situated for homes that I look over lots of tract for the purpose of introducing it to the home-seeker."

The elevation of Summit Heights is 1800 feet. It commands an unexcelled view of the mountains on three sides and looks east over Montrose, Sparr Heights and the Verdugo canyon. Because of the altitude and the geographical points to be considered, the climate maintains a mild temperature throughout the year, the hills shutting off the extreme cold in winter, and the altitude acting to keep the temperature delightful in summer.

The work of subdividing property and watching its development has an attachment to it which every realtor recognizes. Mr. Moore states that in some miraculous way when he had cleared the tract from the ten acres on which he is building his home, a gorgeous aftermath of flowers sprang up and turned the landscape into a mass of color. The predominating flower is the poppy, he states.

"Two weeks ago, thousands of autoists stopped along my property to pick flowers. I would be willing to say that the people invaded that field. I found it necessary to put signs up, after they had left, in order to protect the flowers, and I notice now that the poppies are beginning to grow again. There are also large numbers of lupins to be found there also."

"Speaking of sunshine, this property is equally noted for its moonlight. And the sunsets are simply superb."

At the time the government authorities were seeking a location for a hospital for disabled veterans, it was declared that this tract is the most healthful in the United States. Maj. Moore also says that it has been his privilege to learn that this statement is true, through actual cures that have been effected in cases of influenza, which were brought to notice.

The soil is made up of decomposed granite and affords excellent drainage. It is suited to the culture of fruit trees, vegetables and other products.

SHADE-BEAUTY IN THE WALNUT

Plant the black walnut.
It is a rapidly growing tree, a graceful, wide-spreading and tall tree, and its nuts are a real delicacy. The joy of scrambling for walnuts is a great treat to the children when nutting time comes.

The walnut is in general managed like other orchard fruits of its neighborhood. When the nuts begin to fall, others may be dried in from the trees at intervals of a week or two for perhaps six weeks.
For home use they may be dried in an airy barn or loft. Black walnuts may be cured in their fleshy husks, but preferably with these removed.
Butternuts are always cured with their skins on.

Both walnuts and butternuts are excellent roadside trees. You cannot beat them for woodlot planting.
They give a heap of satisfaction and joy and pleasure to the boys and girls. Why not have some walnuts on every school grounds?
Plant small trees. They cost less and will grow easier. Don't overlook the fact that walnut lumber is very valuable.

Trees help man in his fight for better sanitation.

QUESTIONS ON TREE PLANTING

Question—Our Woman's Club wants to plant memorial trees.
What procedure must we take?

Answer—To plant memorial trees on the state aid road, make application to your district superintendent. Within city limits, see your mayor and property owners.
Question—How may I trim a purple clematis 12 feet tall into which a morning glory has twined and destroyed its beauty?

Answer—Cut the bush to within three or four feet of the ground.
Destroy the morning glory vine and keep it destroyed.

Question—Will it be safe to move a large white honeysuckle in Illinois about May 1st?

Answer—It should be moved immediately. When set out, cut back severely. Dig a ball about two feet from the plant, move ball and plant.

Question—Please inform regarding the market for Christmas trees.

Answer—Home grown trees can easily be sold at home at good prices.

SUMMIT HEIGHTS

BOLEN-SAWYER CO. IS NEW REALTY FIRM

J. H. Bolen, recently of Michigan, has purchased the interest of J. I.
Wernette in the firm of Wernette
& Sawyer, with offices at 211 West Broadway, and the firm will hereafter be known as Sawyer & Bolen.
The location on West Broadway will be retained.

Mr. Sawyer and Mr. Bolen have been close friends for the past 15 years, having known each other in Michigan.
The new company will carry on a general real estate business, and will also do construction and building of all kinds. The realty end will be taken care of by Mr. Bolen, while Mr. Sawyer will oversee the construction work.

This firm has six houses under construction at the present time, with others to be started soon.

PLANTING TIME IS HERE—PLANT NOW

Planting is now beginning. Is your's begun?

Now is the time to begin planting—not next week, not ten days from now, but immediately.

Here are the "Ten Commandments of Tree Planting" as given by an eminent horticultural authority.

1.—Do not allow roots to be exposed to the sun, drying winds or frosts.

2.—Prune with a sharp, clean cut, any broken or injured roots.

3.—Have the holes large enough to admit all the roots without cramping.

4.—Plant in fine loam, enriched with thoroughly decomposed manure.

5.—Do not allow any green, unfermented manure to come into contact with roots.

6.—Spread out the roots in their natural position and work fine loam among them, making it firm and compact.

7.—Do not plant too deep. Let upper roots be set an inch lower than before.

8.—Remove all broken branches, and cut back at least one-half of the previous year's growth of wood.

9.—If the season lacks the usual rainfall, water thoroughly twice a week.

10.—Cultivate. Keep soil in a dust mulch—cultivate.

Men of strong character make many enemies, but that doesn't necessarily imply that men who have many enemies possess strong characters.

FRENCH MARIGOLD BEAUTIFIES HOME

While the dwarf French marigolds, with their thickly massed foliage, studded with gorgeous double and single, orange, yellow, crimson and mahogany-noted flowers, have long been favorites, the tall French marigolds have been neglected for their sturdier and heavier growing relatives, the African marigolds, which have nothing like the range of color found in the French.

The tall French varieties make beautiful plants and have the advantage over the dwarf section in giving flowers with stems long enough to cut for bouquets. The dwarf-type flowers are so close to the foliage that it is difficult to cut them without disfiguring and mutilating the plant.

These marigolds are at their best in the cool days of fall, when they take on unusually brilliant colors.
The dwarf French used as a border for the tall French or the tall African make a gorgeous bed. A planting of the tall African varieties with their heavy heads of lemon, canary and brilliant orange, and a few of the tall French sorts,
make a fine combination.

Then the bed can be finished off with the baby marigold. Tagetes signata pumila, a tiny little bush about six to eight inches high, with a ferny foliage, studded with brilliant yellow miniature flowers, makes an ideal edging plant.

SPARR HEIGHTS IS NOW BUILDING ROADS

Since the work of lowering the Glendale-Montrose line through the Sparr Heights and in parts of Montrose has been completed, work on Montrose avenue has been progressing rapidly.

With the paving of this portion of Montrose avenue, the traffic which has become more and more congested along the boulevard with the continued development of real estate in this section serving to feed this one channel, there will be added as an avenue to traffic, a two-way thoroughfare, one and one-half miles in length.

Street work is also being completed in the Sparr Heights tract adjoining Montrose avenue. Following the completion of this paving, it is predicted that real estate sales will take on added impetus.

Trees give us wood, and wood provides us with building material, furniture, implements, utensils, tools and other useful things in great variety.

THIS VEGETABLE IS ORNAMENT

Parsley is the ornament of the vegetable garden. Its use is as much ornamental as for flavor in cooking. Salads and other dishes garnished with its beautiful mossy curled leaves are always attractive.
Then, too, the finely chopped leaves are used to sprinkle over various dishes as a finish, and the chopped leaves become an important part of the flavoring of soups, stews and other dishes.

Parsley is very slow to germinate and should be sown as early as seeds can be put into the ground.
It may be used as an edging to a flower bed with good effect and as only a few leaves are needed at a time, such as are necessary for kitchen use may always be secured without destroying the ornamental effect.

A few plants of parsley are sufficient for the garden, and they should be given about eight to ten inches in which to develop their mossy foliage. The seed should be planted thinly and the place marked, so that it will not be overrun with weeds before the parsley puts in an appearance, as it often may wait a month before so doing. But once up, it makes fast growth, the young plants resembling celery.

It may be planted with radishes in the same manner as carrots are sometimes planted, the radishes serving to mark the row and being

WANTED: A SALES MANAGER FOR OUR RAILROADS

Roger W. Babson Would Put Transportation on a Business Basis

The Statistician Sees Better Earnings for the Carriers This Year

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., May 5, 1923.—Our commercial world is suffering with poor circulation and the case has been critical from time to time during the last six years. Roger W. Babson today issued a statement regarding the railroad situation that furnishes much food for thought.

"Our commercial arteries are congested," says Mr. Babson, "and I am not at all sure that we have not suffered a good many of the pains that come of poor circulation.
Rightly or wrongly we have complained of our transportation difficulties and it is evident that the situation has been and still is unsatisfactory in many respects.

"The commercial shipper, big customer of our railroads, complains that he is being held up for exorbitant freight rates, that he cannot get cars when he needs them, and that he has quit putting in claims for settlement because it costs him more in time and money trying to collect them than the claim is actually worth. If you are looking for adverse criticism on our present system of transportation and its operation, go to the commercial shipper."

"The second customer of our railroads is the farmer who also is ready with his bill of rights and list of grievances. The railroads have left him without cars and his crop has depreciated heavily on his hands. When the cars did finally arrive freight rates took a large part of his profits. He is surprised that there is something wrong with the present system, but he is not quite certain as to the remedy. His experience with government operated railroads does not make him want the experiment repeated, but he thinks perhaps a bill put through Congress which would require the railroads to carry the farmers' produce at a fraction of the present rate would turn the trick."

"Nor are you and I much happier about the present situation. We ride on trains as passengers and complain of the wretched service.
Our feelings are not soothed any when we examine the column of figures on our Pullman berth check and find all regular taxes and current taxes listed in order. Our good friends the commercial travelers are particularly incensed just now because the courts have handed down a permanent injunction against the issue of mileage books.
The quantity discount that used to be enjoyed by the commercial traveler as a large cash customer of transportation is no more. He must pay the full tariff whether he likes it or not."

It is quite apparent from Mr.
Babson's summary that the customers are not happy with things as they are.

"If we look into the transportation business itself," continues the statistician, "we find a dissatisfied group of workers who are spending a large part of their time trying to get what they think will be a satisfactory working basis. They are for government ownership because they believe it would be of direct benefit to them inasmuch as it would probably pay a good high wage and would continue to pay it whether the business done or the service rendered justified it or not. The tax payers would meet the deficit. A selfish and unsound proposal at best."

"If we turn to the many thousands of small investors scattered throughout the country who own our railroads, we find that they are not very enthusiastic. They will tell you that their money has been tied up in rail securities all these days in either actual return or in little in either actual return or in the way of encouragement."

"Now with all these people losing one might suppose that some one would be winning. We turn to the management of our roads and we find them complaining bitterly that they can do nothing because of government regulation.
They will tell you that their roads are in need of repair but that the government will not allow them to make enough to pay interest on the money that they must borrow to buy the new equipment so they have to worry along with what they have and spend their time trying to hold off more adverse legislation. We are, therefore, unanimous in our agreement that something is wrong, but what is to be done about it. Our railroad system cannot break down completely.
The circulation of our great commercial world cannot stop or business would die and the people would suffer starvation."

"There seems to be a great deal of misunderstanding among radical elements who are pushing for more restrictions and adverse legislation. You have often heard it said that the government through its ruling has guaranteed the railroads' earnings and that since they may have some watered stock the government has actually guaranteed them earnings on capitalization which really does not exist.
As a matter of fact, this is not at all the case. The government has not guaranteed any earnings and all roads are being dealt with upon the present valuation set by the Interstate Commerce commission and not upon their capitalization either real or fictitious.

"The original ruling put in force the day the railroads went back to private ownership stated that the Interstate Commerce commission was to set rates that would show a reasonable return on the investment. For the first year that act established 6 per cent as such a return. The Interstate Commerce commission raised rates from 25 to 40 per cent to show that earning, but the roads actually earned 2 per cent. Last year, the Interstate Commerce commission established 5 3/4 per cent as a fair return on valuation and has set its rates to allow such earnings.

"The net earnings for 1922 average 3.82 per cent which is less than savings banks ordinarily pay on deposits. Nor is this 5 3/4 per cent in any way a guarantee. Once the rates are set it is up to railroads.
If by efficient management and economy the road is able to make more than 5 3/4 per cent, all well and good, if it shows a loss under these rates set by the Interstate Commerce commission there is no recourse."

"The encouraging thing about the whole situation is that three or four of our great railroads have come to their senses and are really merchandising their service and giving their attention to their customers. The success of the course they are taking is evidenced by increased traffic and very satisfactory earnings. During the next few months I hope that the rest of our railroads will become converted to this common sense policy and that they will realize that running a railroad is very much like running any other business—he profits most that serves best! This is why the keenest investors are now bullish on railroad stocks."

"In studying this problem I find that we must go back 15 years to get at the cause of our present difficulty. In those days the financiers were operating the railroads, and on a "public be damned" policy.
Wages were held at too low a level and rates were jacked up for all that the traffic would stand. As conditions became unbearable, it was necessary for the government to step in with its legislation and restrictions. The railroad management of today is reaping the harvest that was sown by the railroad management of a score of years ago. It is the old law of actions and reaction all over again. The general public's habitual complaint of its common carriers is an attitude inherited from these same years and bred of this same mismanagement."

"I am firmly convinced that the present dissatisfaction will continue until a new conception of the railroad has been sold to the American people. The present management is too busy to bother with this 'little shipper,' or 'that little shipper,' this 'passenger' or 'that small claim.' The business itself in Washington, playing politics and trying to get itself legislated into the profit column."

"If I had one of these railroad systems on my hands, I would hire a salesmanager for it, a man thoroughly competent to sell transportation service to the American public. A man who could merchandise efficient transportation to the shipper, a man who could sell a pleasant, comfortable journey to the traveler. The railroad business is no different from any other business. It must render a service, but it must also sell that service.
The department store that took the railroad attitude and that if you want anything we have, you will have to come and get it, you will have to wait until we get ready to give it to you, and if it is not satisfactory just try and get a settlement; would be in bankruptcy within sixty days. It is just as unsound for the railroad management to try to pass favorable legislation that they believe will get them into the profit column, as it is for the rail workers to want government ownership because it can pay them a high wage, year in and year out, whether they earn it or not."

"My salesmanager's second duty would be to organize an employes on our road as a sales and service staff. To get them to look at the public as a prospective market for their services, to get them to realize that each traveler and each shipper is a buyer and that he must be treated accordingly. If the employes are to be a part of the country today took a pride in their road and earnestly tried to please their customers, that road would make a profit in spite of all the adverse legislation that can be passed and it could pay its employees a higher scale of wages than they will ever be able to maintain by the formula of 'getting all you can and giving as little as you can.'"

Trees provide one of the most striking and permanent forms of beauty.

BEAUTIFUL HILLSIDE HOMESITES IN GLENOAKS, THE WONDER TRACT OF EAST GLENDALE, NOW AVAILABLE

Unprecedented Rush of Homeseekers for Lots in That Subdivision of Unsurpassed Charm Takes Most of Level Sites; View Lots Are Left

The first rush of homeseekers has pretty well taken up all the level and lower priced lots in Glenoaks, the attractive Frank Meline Company subdivision in East Glendale, and purchasers are now turning their eyes to the attractive hillside sites and hilltops that are being cleared and made available.

For a long time tract salesmen have had to contend with demands on the part of visitors for cabin sites. Glenoaks, with its picturesque, rugged beauty at once conjures up pictures of delightful, rustic cabins, snuggled down among the oaks on the sides of the hills.

But the Frank Meline Company has had an entirely different picture in mind. With roads leading up to the crests of the hills and the underbrush cleared away, these same "cabin sites" provide unequalled sites for homes and small estates, a fact which the average man is inclined to overlook. Glenoaks is said to be the heaviest wooded spot in all of Southern California. The live oaks that cover its hillside are unusually large and this and the total effect is to lend an artistic and rustic splendor to Glenoaks that is much sought after these days, when trees are apparently going the way of horses and suspenders, and disappearing into a somewhat nebulous penumbra of modern ways and means.

So, with the passing of the level lots, the attention of homeseekers in Glenoaks is being directed to these higher sites, which, without the ability to visualize often appear to the average visitor as being only picturesque little hills that wall in the glen from the business-minded world outside.

And these same homeseekers are waxing enthusiastic when the full possibilities are pointed out, and suddenly deciding that hill-side and hill-top home sites are to be desired above all else.

Glenoaks is to be developed into a high-class residence park. Nothing will be overlooked to add to its attractiveness, and a large number of distinctive features are to be incorporated in its development, including permanent bridle paths, mountain hiking trails, a practice golf links, etc. Large one-half and quarter acre home sites are now being sold on easy terms. Prices are exceedingly low, considering the close-in and scenic features of the tract, pending street construction.

A wise man treats his mother-in-law with kindness early and often.

LAST CHANCE AT SUNSET GROVE LOTS

The last of Sunset Grove, comprising ten acres of orchards, is to go in the clean-up sale which was started today by Hamlin & Hepburn, subdividers, who placed the district on the market about six weeks ago and have sold 34 of the 42 lots that were originally included in the subdivision.

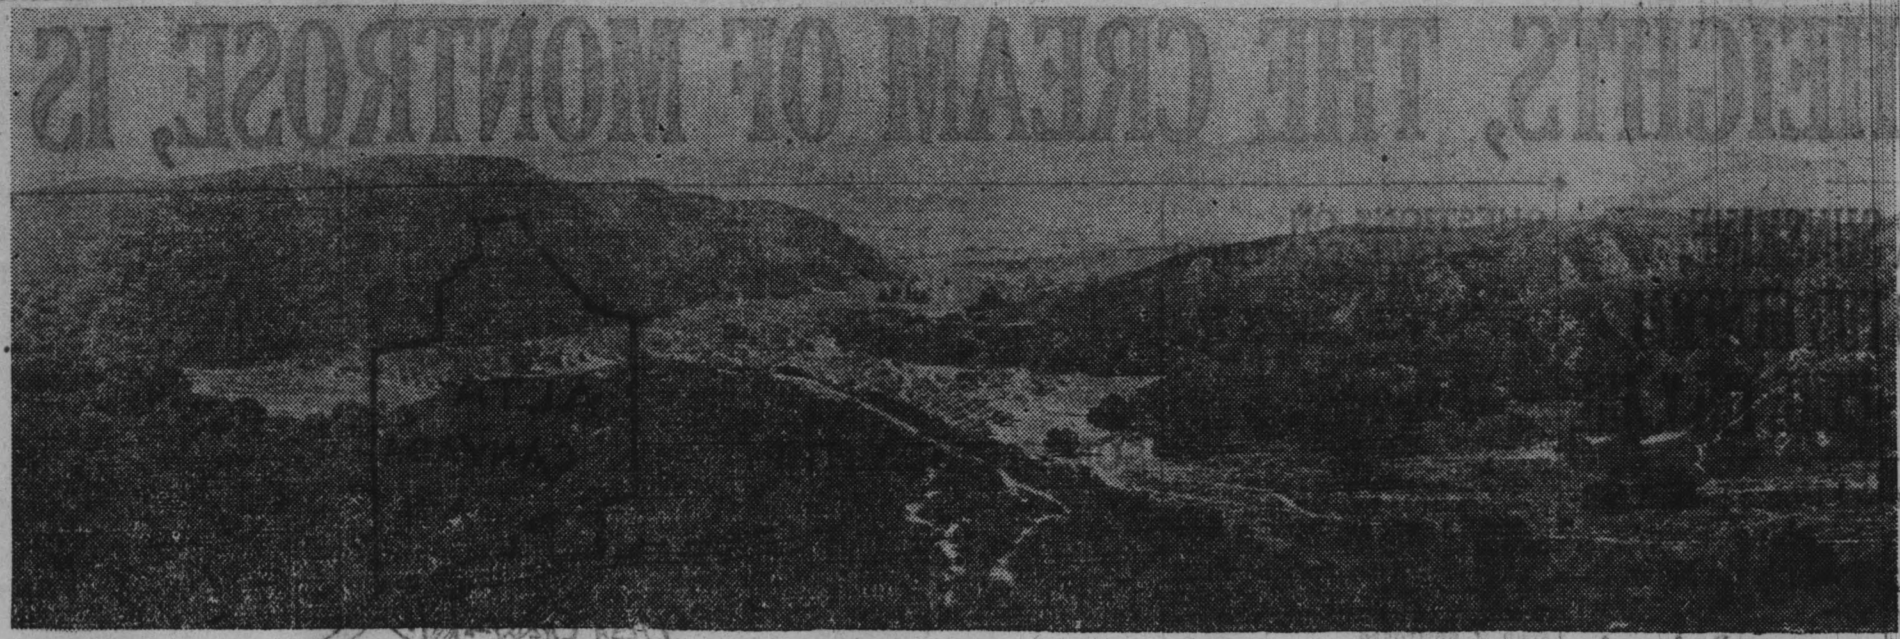

"Prices have been slashed on these last eight lots," stated Mr. Hamlin. "We are cutting the initial payment in half, in order to hurry the sales to a close, and the prices we are offering will compare favorably with any other corresponding property in Glendale. Each lot is planted in apricot trees, and the trees go with the lots, making a valuable consideration in itself."

Sunset Grove is located northwest of Glendale, building an intermediate position between the city and the foothills to the north. Already permits have been issued to property owners in the section for homes, on which construction is to start at once. Among these homes to be built, it is reported that one purchaser is to erect a $10,000 residence. The remaining building sites command a view of the hills of Griffith Park.

SMART LUGGAGE

Everyone desires smart looking luggage. Round or square hat boxes of patent leather bound with pig skin are most attractive and not too expensive for the average purse.

SPARR HEIGHTS IS LAND OF BEGINNING AGAIN ON LINES OF INDIVIDUALITY

New Wide Streets, New Art Homes, Fascinates the Visitor to the Residence City Which Is Being Raised in the Wonderland

"In the Land of Beginning Again," which might properly be called Sparr Heights, were one to seek a literal illustration of the above song title, there is certain to be something very wonderful in the way of citizenry become evident within the next few months.

This is the reason—everything is new, with the exception of Mother Earth herself. Every house, every place of business and practically every street is new. Even the sunshine seems to have absorbed some of the atmosphere of newness, and the landscape stands out clearly in all its proud beauty, as if the artist had but thrown his brush aside and called the picture finished.

And the fascination of the new country has enthralled the hearts of hundreds of homeseekers—bankers, lawyers, tradesmen, merchants, the retired business man, seeking a place of quiet after a life of hurry and bustle in the business world—all these will be found in Sparr Heights.

Since the opening of sales in Sparr Heights six months ago more than $190,000 has been spent in improving the tract, comprising 1500 acres.

This sum has been expended in clearing the land, laying out streets is to be given to the people of Glendale and Montrose.

Each corner seems to have felt the force of the injunction, "Build more stately mansions" for in each home that is being built there is a growing impression of individuality, the little inventions and peculiarities of taste which constitute the differences in personality, and a rivalry of idealism, which says to the builder, "None other shall possess a home exactly like mine," and so he goes, and adds to and takes away from the original plan of building until he has achieved something entirely satisfactory.

One outstanding example of these little eccentricities in construction is the home of A. E. Swain, a salesman for the Barnum - Walters company. It is indescribable in the terms of American architecture.

The windows might have been characterized as French, were it not for the curious cross-section effect of wooden bars which cut the panes into the oddest and most unexpected shapes. The door might be described as massive, if it were not for the fact that its great surface is broken in effect through the insertion of a curiously-shaped pane of glass.

Two spacious rooms occupy the front of the house, and spite the most charming fireplace that stone mason ever conceived is there in a central position, not backed against an outer wall, to greet the eye of the visitor. This fireplace deserves a niche of its own in the telling of this story. It is constructed entirely of granite boulders, not the kind that would suggest an oversized colossus, but of generous proportions. These massive stones are used in the chimney, as well, and also surround the hearth.

The walls in these two rooms are of over-cast plaster, but unless one is a builder or plasterer he would in all probability require an eye view of the finish on the walls of the Swain residence to gain an idea of their effectiveness. They are tinted in a delicate two-tone effect of rose and pale green.

Of course there are two bed rooms, equally spacious and inviting; a breakfast nook large enough to contain a full-sized dining-room table, and a kitchen that would delight the eyes of any housekeeper. The owner acted as the designer of the dwelling.

Mr. Swain says that he thinks the best endorsement that Sparr Heights could receive is the fact that Barnum, Walters and many of the tract salesmen, including himself, have thought so well of Sparr Heights that they are going to make it their home. He has also been one of the most active in seeing that other people choose Sparr Heights for their home.

Construction is under way on Mr. Barnum's home, which displays a foundation of 45 by 68 feet, and will also have a two-story car garage. The site for H. E. Barnum's residence commands a view with a compass of perhaps thirty miles in every direction, and directly overlooks the site of the Oakmont Country club and other choice locations which are under construction for buildings.

SAVING OLD PAINT BRUSHES
Old paint brushes should be suspended in water allowing the water to cover only the bristles. You can do this by driving nails through the side of a wooden bucket so the handle of the brush will fit in between the nails, thus suspending the brush in water. Or run a wire through the handle of the brush and hang it on one of the nails.

LOW BUILDING TO GIVE NAME PRIZE

A cash prize of $100 is to be offered by the Low Building company at the Glendale Merchants Industrial Exposition which is to take place from May 25 to June 3.

This prize, it was announced, will be awarded to the person selecting the most suitable name for a motion picture which is to be shown as a part of the exhibit of the Low Building company at the Exposition. This film is to embody the chief problem in the building industry, and will include views of San Fernando valley and the vicinity of Glendale.

The Low Building company will display a model home of the Pacific Ready-Cut, and the motion picture will be shown continuously in this home. Those who wish to enter the contest will first view the picture, which will be shown each day during the Exposition.

The contest will close a few days after the close of the Exposition. All suggestions will be accepted either at the company's booth or at the office of the Low Building company, 416-418 East Colorado boulevard.

CAMPBELL HEIGHTS NOW OFFERED TO BUYERS

Beautiful 3-Acre Tract Goes on Market for First Time

Sales in Campbell Heights, the 30-acre tract that has just been opened by Arthur Campbell, exclusive agent, are proving that the demand for homesites is growing at a rapid rate, and that the most desirable locations lie in the north-west section.

Campbell Heights lies in the Kenneth road district, Glendale's highest class residential district. The tract is located about three blocks north of Kenneth road and Highland avenue, a site that has gradually become the scene of surprising real estate activity during the past weeks.

Each lot in the tract is of such size as to be especially suited for the class of homes that will inevitably be constructed there. They vary in size from 58x160 feet to 100x180 feet, and each commands a wonderful view and is ideal for the location of a picturesque villa, a pretentious manor or a romantic bungalow, and rigid building restrictions insure the class of construction which is to come.

Bearing peach and valencia orange trees cover the tract, materially enhancing the value of the property. Improvements now under way include the paving of a 50-foot boulevard with five-inch macadam, and the laying of curbs and sidewalks will be started as soon as engineers complete the profiles and establish the grades for the contractors.

The opening of this tract marks the development of the most desirable, yet available, foot-hill property to the east of Grand View avenue. Testifying to the worth of the offer, a number of Glendale residents, who have been waiting for just such an opportunity to locate in the foot-hill district, have made reservations there.

This property has been in the possession of Dan and Arthur Campbell for the past 20 years, and it is with mixed feelings of pride and reluctance that they are allowing it to be subdivided and placed upon the market. It is predicted that the 86 lots comprising the tract will not remain on the board more than a few weeks, judging by the increasing demand for such property.

SMART SHORT JACKETS

Extremely smart and very new are little short jackets made of handloom wollen fabric. The designs and color combinations are remarkably interesting and beautiful.

Beautiful high-class restricted property, between two main boulevards, Kenneth Road and Tenth St.; full sized lots, 50x156 to an alley; covered with beautiful fruit trees. This year's crop goes with the property, and is in itself a considerable item, as the crop is very heavy; about 18 trees to each lot.

We confidently predict that Sunset Grove lots will be worth from about $1500 to $2000 in a short time, and compared with the prices of other property, they are worth that now.

The Tract Office will be open Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday. First come, first served; no telephone orders; no reservations without a deposit; immediate possession upon making initial payment. The best opportunity we ever expect to offer to secure high-class property with a minimum initial payment.

Enough said.

BIG THINGS ARE ON TODAY AND TOMORROW AT BELLEHURST PARK, CREAM OF SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

Gigantic Advertising Campaign Is Expected to Bring Buyers Flocking From All Sections of Southern California to This City

The final half of beautiful Bellehurst Park will be over-run with out of town buyers today and tomorrow, as the public announcement has been made in all the Los Angeles papers every day since Thursday. It is predicted by the Walter H. Leimert Co. that this second and more elevated section of the property will be disposed of easily within the month, as it only took four weeks to clean up the entire first half of over one million dollars' worth of magnificently located building sites.

The universal hunger for this ideal section of Glendale on the part of people from all over Southern California shows clearly the opinion that the general public has towards this magic city. The past record of Glendale for quick growth has impressed the entire southland with the result that swarms of investors and home-seekers respond to announcements such as the present opening sale on Bellehurst park. In the case of this particular property, to see is to buy, because it is of surpassing beauty, and practically sells itself.

The rolling foothills on the northern half of the tract have been landscaped by competent engineers and the contour drives have been so arranged as to give the maximum ease of ascent with easy grades and still leave unobstructed views from every one of the quaint-shaped foothill villa sites that go on sale for the first time today.

The lower section of the tract is still way above the city and even higher than the first unit which is now all sold out. Wonderful views from both sections of the present unit can be secured but some people will naturally prefer level homesites while others will want to get up on the hillsides in spite of the slightly greater building expense.

Glendale is rapidly acquiring in Bellehurst park a residence section that will be second to none in the entire south.

The Walter H. Leimert Co. is leaving no stone unturned in their effort to make Bellehurst park a subdivision that will reflect credit on their organization which already has a worthy reputation for large scale development enterprises in the north.

A visit to Bellehurst park today will be of great interest even if you have already visited the subdivision as there will undoubtedly be great activity and many outside buyers will be in evidence.

GROUND FOR SPARR HEIGHTS CLUB PREPARED

The past week has witnessed notable activity at Sparr Heights. The Oakmont Country club has thirty teams at work leveling and grading its golf course, and is preparing to lay the foundation of its club house. Along the boulevard, business buildings of handsome design are making rapid progress, and upon every hand are seen signs of stimulated building.

The development of the streets and roads in the tract in the past few weeks has been remarkable, but notable as the progress of this beautiful residential tract has been, there are matters pending and soon to be made public that will evidence the deep interest taken by men of affairs in this new community, and that will surprise and delight its friends.

The future of the new town of Sparr Heights as a community center no less important than Glendale or Hollywood, is now definitely settled. Business is quick to see its opportunity and is taking advantage of ground in the "ground floor" and the numerous sales of fine residence sites in the past month show that prospective home builders are realizing the unrivalled position of the tract and its facilities for furnishing an ideal place for residence where one may enjoy outdoor life, an ideal climate and the freedom of the country, but in such close touch with the city that it may be accessible without more expenditure of time than is necessary for those who dwell in its outlying districts.

Every facility for education and amusement offered by the city will eventually be afforded at Sparr Heights, while recreation and pleasure impossible to the city dweller will be available together with those permanent associations which make a home something more than a mere shelter after the work of the day is done.

With the attractions of scenery, climate and surroundings afforded by Sparr Heights its position on the only artery through which the traffic of the communities beyond it can flow to Los Angeles is of great present importance, and bound to increase both its population and its business. Moreover, the confidence that this is true is inspiring the firms which locate in the business district set aside by the developers of the tract to construct edifices calculated to meet future as well as present needs.

A maiden lady, Miss Cocker, and her niece, who bears the same name, went one evening to a reception at the house of a friend.

"What name, please?" inquired the footman.

"Miss Cocker," answered the elder lady.

"Miss Cocker, too," joined in the niece hurriedly.

Whereupon the man of plush and buttons opened the drawing-room door, and with all the dignity of his profession, ushered them into the midst of the company with the convulsing announcement: "Miss Cocker and Miss Cockatoo!"

NEW FLINTRIDGE TRACT TO KNOW MAGIC TOUCH

The magic touch of architect, builder and landscape gardener will be evident at Flintridge Highlands, in a demonstration beginning May 10, to show what changes can be wrought in a plot of unimproved land, covered over with wild grape vines, sage brush and oaks.

The site which has been chosen for this demonstration of the modern home-builder's skill is ideally located and commands a panoramic view of the surrounding country. J. H. Schenck, sales manager for the Flintridge Highlands Sales Company, states that in a short while a model home containing eight rooms will be under construction, the grounds will be cleared and every possible aid given to the natural beauties of the location to make it an ideal home in every respect.

The house will be a combination of the English and Spanish type stucco. It will be completely furnished and equipped and will be opened to the public for inspection as to the ideal foot-hill home.

"Building activity in Flintridge Highlands continues," stated Mr. Schenck. "We are undertaking many improvements also, including the opening of Iversness drive, which was opened for a part of its length, to the public last Sunday."

"Plans are also under way for mapping out bridge paths through the Flintridge district and leading into Arroyo Seco canyon. These paths will skirt the boulevards and will then lead past the Flintridge Country Club, through the golf links and on into the Arroyo. It is predicted that, when completed, these paths will constitute one of the most picturesque retreats for lovers of the equestrian art."

PUT TREE IN RIGHT PLACE

"It is a beautiful thing to plant a tree, but it is doubly beautiful to plant the right tree in the right place."

"The deed loses half of its beauty when a tree is placed where it does not belong, and where it will be impossible for it to add to the joy and comfort of those who may be near it in future years. A tree placed in a location where it will be in the way and where it cannot develop in accordance with its natural tendencies is doomed to be a failure. The same is likely to be true of the tree that is planted without thought as to the variety that is best suited to the situation. It is the tree planting that involves thought and judgment that is the real blessing to humanity."

"The beautiful thing in the planting of the tree is the attitude of mind of the one who does it. Those who are to receive the benefits from the act appear long after the work is done; those who do the work are seldom directly rewarded for the labor. When a person plants a tree he is contributing to the pleasure of generations to come, and if he plants the right tree in the right place he bestows a blessing upon others in the most unselfish manner. If, on the other hand, the wrong tree is planted, the future generations cannot reap the full benefit of the work done years before by the well-meaning but uninformed tree planter, and the deed as measured by results, becomes less beautiful."—Illinois Arbor Day Bulletin, 1919.

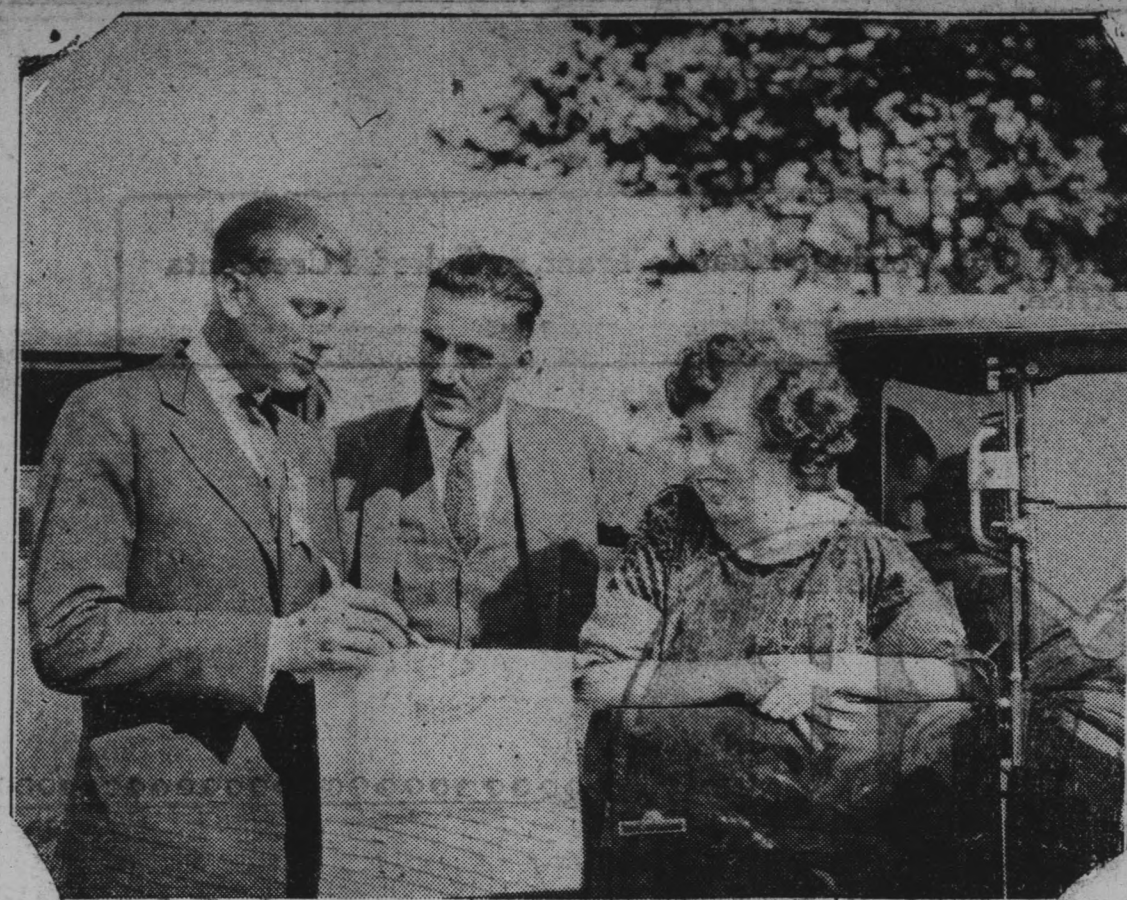

FEEDING YEAST TO CHICKENS

Everyone has become familiar with the claims made for yeast as a supplement to the human diet through the widespread publicity given to this product by manufacturers since the importance of vitamins in human nutrition was discovered and made known.

The field of animal feeding has now been entered by the manufacturers of yeast products and yeast is being advocated as a very beneficial addition to the diet in stimulating growth and egg production in fowls. As a result, poultry keepers are seeking authentic information as to the real value of yeast for this purpose.

To secure data which will determine if any benefit can be profitably secured by feeding yeast, the poultry division of the College of Agriculture has begun some yeast feeding trials at the University of California farm. Several pens of Leghorns and dual purpose fowls to the number of 350 are being fed yeast to determine the egg yield, while chick pens of the same house receive an identical ration with yeast omitted. The comparative health, gains, mortality and egg production are being noted, and hatching data is being secured.

Yeast is also being fed to young rabbits to note its effect on rate of gain in weight and other tests will be made with young chicks.

CALIFORNIA IDEA SPREADS BEYOND IN MEXICO

By FREDERICK C. NEUEIER
United Press Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Mex., May 5. (United Press).—The spirit of California has invaded Mexico.

The ninety delegates of the trade extension tour of the San Francisco chamber of commerce brought with them the spirit of good will and friendship of the people of the United States for the people of Mexico.

And the people of Mexico are duly grateful and have returned the expressions of friendship.

Judging from the editorials and the articles appearing in the Mexican newspapers, Mexico was happy to have entertained such a representative body of people, perhaps the most representative body of persons who have ever visited this country.

Orderly and full of pep and good will, the Friscoans and other members of the San Francisco chamber of commerce won the hearts of the Mexicans. "It's a pleasure to entertain such people," was the tone of the articles of the Mexico City newspapers, "they are so sympathetic."

From the time the party arrived everything was done to entertain them, and the Californians in turn were duly grateful.

When the special train reached Mexico City on Tuesday morning the first thing that reached the ears of the excursionists was "The Star Spangled Banner" played by a Mexican military band—Mexico's welcome and spirit of friendship for the Americans.

President Obregon's private secretary, in addition to the delegates from the various chambers of commerce, and in addition to American Consul General Dawson, welcomed the visitors.

At the Hotel Regis headquarters were made and everything was done to make the new arrivals feel that Mexico wanted them to be homelike.

During the first day's visit the national museum and other places of interest were visited. On the next day the famous "Floating Gardens" were the scene of the entertainment.

The pyramids were the place of visit on the next day, those monuments by which Mexico is now known as the "Egypt of the Americas." The "home of the American Greeks" greatly impressed the visitors.

The day following the visitors were the guests of the American chamber of commerce, at a luncheon at which the visitors were welcomed by the Americans who make Mexico their home and their place of business.

On Saturday—the biggest day of the visitors' stay here—they were the guests of President Obregon and his good wife at a luncheon at Chapultepec palace. President Obregon and his wife proved to be excellent hosts and they strongly impressed the visitors.

"President Obregon is a wonderful man," E. O. McCormick, vice-president of the Southern Pacific railroad and chairman of the delegation, told the United Press.

"He is a plain spoken man and shoots straight."

Mrs. Obregon also endeared herself to the Americans, who send her and President Obregon with a gift, a token of their friendship and good-will toward Mexico.

Sunday was a day of miscellaneous entertainment and on Sunday night the party began its trip homeward through Queretara, Guadalupe, etc. Entertainment was also given the party at those places.

The trip of the Friscoans, or rather Californians, has done much to cement the friendship between the people of the south and the people of the north.

People of Mexico, because of lack of recognition, have wondered whether the feeling of the people of the north was really kindly toward them, and the trip has proved that despite international affairs and politics, the people of California feel kindly toward their neighbors of the south.

Lengthy editorials and articles have appeared in the Mexico City papers relative to the kindly feeling expressed toward Mexico by the delegates on the tour.

It is predicted that much good will come out of the tour from a business viewpoint, considering both Mexico and the United States. To the United Press leaders of the delegation have expressed themselves as follows:

Judge William H. Langdon, vice-chairman of the delegation, presiding justice district court of appeals: "No one who has not visited this wonderful country can form an accurate impression of its wonderful natural resources and its progress and development that is everywhere in evidence at present."

Chester Rowell, millionaire publicist and regent of the University of California: "We have been received everywhere in Mexico with greater hospitality than we expected and more than we deserved. We are sure the personal contacts established here will add greatly to the friendship of the two peoples and probably to commercial relations of advantage to both nations."

William Marks, president Marks Brothers, women's outfitters: "Mexico City has outdone herself with the wonderful reception showered upon us. Naturally such a cordial greeting will bring about a better understanding for the commercial benefit of our two nations."

Frank Carroll, western manager of New Lubricating Co.: "As the result of the wonderful welcome in Mexico City we are going home with a feeling considerably different than ever anticipated."

A. T. Hubbard, secretary foreign trade bureau San Francisco chamber of Commerce: "On travels through Europe I was told that the world does not host of a more hospitable people than the people of Mexico, and our reception at the national capital confirms the observation."

Edward Livingston, secretary Livingston brothers, women's and children's outfitters: "It certainly was inspiring when we stepped from the train in Mexico City and heard our national hymn, followed by heartfelt greetings from representatives of the Mexican government and so many commercial organizations."

J. C. Forkner, president J. C. Forkner fig gardens, president Forkner Water Co., capitalist of Fresno, Calif.: "I am delighted with the spirit manifested by the city of Mexico in our reception. I hope Fresno, California, may soon have the opportunity of welcoming representatives of the chamber of commerce of Mexico."

C. H. Sayre vice-president Valley bank, Fresno: "The hospitality extended by Mexico City made us feel truly at home. One cannot help but be impressed by the vast resources of Mexico. From a cursory view it would appear that the future possibilities are unlimited. There are doubtless wonderful opportunities for investment of American capital and it is sincerely hoped that the moneys of the world will find their way to Mexico to promote its future prosperity."

The Friscoans have gone, but the California spirit still remains in Mexico.

The "good will," the "good wishes," the friendship expressed by the trade extension tour of the San Francisco chamber of commerce will not soon be forgotten here.

Lots of people imagine that they are not talked about, simply because they do not hear it.

Red hair has a way of getting tangled up in one's temperament.

LAST UNIT OF OAKRIDGE PUT ON MARKET

In today's issue the Guillemain Investment company announces the opening of the last unit of Oakridge which is situated in the south-eastern part of this city.

For many years the people have admired these beautiful hills with their wonderful oak, eucalyptus and holly trees and many have gone to the summit to get the magnificent view of the mountains, valleys, and ocean.

It will therefore be of great interest to everyone to know that these hills are now platted into beautiful homesites.

Good restrictions and high class improvements which characterize the methods used by this firm will be strictly adhered to. Scenic drives will be opened into the hills and the present scheme of pavement with ornamental street lights now used in the lower tract will be carried but in making this one of the very finest residential properties in Southern California.

Glendale is one of the finest cities in the country and there is an ever increasing demand for high class residential property such as Oakridge will be.

GIVE PEAS LOTS OF ROOM

Old-fashioned gardeners always insisted in sowing about three times as much pea seed in a row as could grow well and produce a maximum crop. To add to the waste of seed and peas, they planted these thick rows in double rows. Peas are a cool weather crop and the planting season extends from the earliest time the ground can be worked until the end of May at the latest with early fall crops occasionally.

It is best to sow peas in a single row and the individual peas two inches apart. In this way each vine will produce to capacity and will give twice as many peas per vine as in thick planting. These single rows may be planted in double ranks for the sake of utilizing brush or chicken wire support or if the space is limited.

Peas must be cultivated faithfully to be at their best as they are a cool weather crop and demand cool roots. The maintenance of a dust mulch in dry spells will do wonders towards keeping them going. They need liberal soakings if an unseasonable dry, hot spell intervenes in June as sometimes happens.

Although the dwarf peas will grow well without support they will do better, even the most dwarfed, if given a width of narrow chicken wire to start them into upright growth. The taller of the dwarf section, those that grow two feet or more high, need this support and some of the finest of the dwarf section attain this height.

TAKE CARE OF PAINT BRUSHES

Too much cannot be said about the proper use and care of paint brushes. There are many persons, who while being good painters, do not seem to understand the proper treatment and care of their brushes. There are probably more good brushes ruined and condemned through not being properly taken care of than through the poor quality of the bristles.

A little thoughtfulness saves a large amount of trouble with brushes. Many a brush that is hastily condemned as worthless is really good.

WASHING OLD BRUSHES

After the paint or varnish in an old brush is thoroughly softened, wash the brushes in the usual way with soap and warm water. When drying brushes hang them in the shade with bristles down. Do not place them in the sun as the heat will cause the handles to check and the bindings to draw.

THREE LOTS LEFT IN WING TRACT

Lots in the Wing Orange Grove have left the hands of the subdividers with an astonishing rapidity, according to Marvin Smith, who states that out of 123 lots in the tract, only 3 are left on the market.

A marvelous sales record of 120 lots sold during eight weeks of concentrated effort, is the history of the opening of the Wing Orange Grove tract to the home-seeker. This means a total of more than a quarter of a million dollars in lots.

"The majority of buyers," stated Mr. Smith, "are to be found among the people of Glendale. We have sold a number of lots to Los Angeles people, also, but most of those who have invested in the Wing Orange Grove tract are Glendale people."

Evidence of the fact that many of the buyers consider their purchase as a home site is to be found in looking over the building prospects. Seventeen houses have already been started and each week sees an addition to the list of builders. Mr. Smith predicts that the remaining three lots will be sold in the next few days.

RUTH GIVING BEST TO PUBLIC

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, May 4 (United Press).—When Babe Ruth started the 1923 season with one of his longest homers in the opening game, the sharp tongues of some of those who look upon everything as a "job" had something to like this to say:

"He laid down in the exhibition games to get 'em to pitch to him." While it is impossible to fathom the mental processes of the Babe at the bat, such statements must be considered far-fetched if not actually foolish.

The biggest factor in the comeback of the Babe was a new-born sense of duty toward what he now regards as HIS public.

The belief that the Babe finally has come to the realization of what the public expects of him and how he has failed to keep faith with it, is not propaganda from the club or from the Babe himself. It is the conviction of veteran baseball writers, with trained powers of observation, who have watched Ruth all year on and off the field.

The Babe actually considers he has a greater duty toward the fans in the tank towns because their opportunities to see him and big league baseball teams is confined to one day a year, while the fans in the bigger towns can suit their own convenience.

If the Babe failed to deliver in the exhibition games it was not the fault of his heart, but was the result of a slow moving process in overcoming the effects of illness and getting himself back in his old form.

It is not just to insinuate that Ruth "pulled his punches" in the exhibition games, because he never could have been accused of not

MARKET COMMENT

By HERBERT R. JACKSON

There is nothing unusual in the action of the stock market in recent weeks. The minor movements covering a few days or several weeks have counterparts in the bull markets of previous years. Prices do not continue to advance without occasional adjustment in the form of a reaction. Take the course of average prices of 20 standard industrial stocks since the beginning of the major upward movement in August, 1921. This figure stood at 63.90 on August 24, 1921. By September 11, 1922, thirteen months later, the average had advanced to 102.05, a gain of more than 38 points. In the following 19 days, a loss of six points was recorded and this loss, in turn, was cancelled by October 14, two weeks later. Prices backed and filled until March of the present year, when a new high of 105.38 was recorded and subsequent reactions have resulted in the prevailing average of about 98.

This range between 98 and 105 compares with a range of 109 to 119 in the last stage of the major upward movement of 1919. In that market, the top was attained on November 3 and three months later trying, even if he has been guilty of almost anything else in the past.

As far as the intimation that he was trying to coax the pitchers to give him a chance, it is absurd to even think of such a thing. The Babe can't pull his punches if he tried. He wouldn't have to do it to get the pitchers to pitch to him. With his showing in the recent race last year and his miserable showing in the world's series against the New York Giants, he has established a slump that was sufficient to encourage any pitcher to take a chance with him, regardless of what he did in the training season. Work in early spring exhibition games is never reliable ground for accurate judgment of a player's real form.

the average had declined to 90.66. While there is nothing on the immediate financial horizon to bespeak a decline of 29 points within the next three months there is ample reason for the investor to exercise diligence, not only in the selection of new investments, but in analyzing present holdings.

We have had nearly two years of a major upward movement. We have seen two years of industrial revival after the trying days of 1920. Production is now conceded to be at its peak. The stock market appears to have discounted the maximum of healthy industrial development. Unquestionably, many stocks are selling at higher levels than conditions warrant, that is, conditions within the specific companies. It is high time, therefore, that the investor apply the measure of asset value, earning power and prospects for a future to the stocks and bonds actually held for investment as well as those bought for speculative profit.

Because of the overproduction of oil, one is not necessarily impelled to adopt the belief that the industry as a whole is faced with disaster. On the other hand, it would seem to be the time merely to make a division of the strong and weak. Obviously, the oil companies which must depend on marketability of the product for profits will be the most affected. But the companies which have ample storage facilities now sadly taxed by the way, and can refine and transport, are in no great danger of calamity. In this connection it does not require very much insight to arrive at the conclusion that many of the low priced issues on the Eastern exchange are selling for all they are worth. The industry as a whole has a good outlook and the overproduction is, at the worst, merely a temporary condition.

The first quarter of the present year has been a record breaker in many respects. In the railroad industry, more cars were loaded than ever in a previous period. Yet, the earnings of railroads do not even yet truly reflect trade conditions.

Earnings are good and improving, but the roads do not cash in on the increased business of manufacturers until the goods have actually been shipped. The average price of railroad shares has fluctuated within a five-point range for many months. There has been little speculation in this division of the list. It will not be surprising if there is further activity in the rails before final culmination of the present movement of the market.

The general tone in industry is one of confidence and conservatively enthusiastic optimism. Executives apparently learned a lesson right after war, which will not soon be forgotten. Expansion is not being pushed to the limit, and the effort now seems to be in the direction of stabilization, rather than overdevelopment. This is in itself a healthy sign.

The stock market continues to be largely professional. There has been more or less general liquidation, and it is evident that some of the recent liquidation was forced by the decline catching "stop loss" orders. With the elimination of these, and a rather sizeable short interest, the market would seem to have been strengthened from a technical standpoint. Such influences will have much to do with the course of prices in the immediate future. But, it is high time that investors recognize the final phase of the current movement and make careful analysis of holding in anticipation of considerably lightening speculative accounts.

KEEP BRUSHES CLEAN

When you are through using a brush, rinse thoroughly in benzine and suspend in oil, which will lengthen its life many times. The reason is obvious, for if you examine the tip of a single bristle under a microscope you will find it split or having on the end what is more commonly known as a "flag." The bristle is also hollow and the oil, feeding through this split or flag, keeps the bristles alive and serviceable.

WIND-UP OF THE SUBURBAN TRACT LOT SALE SET

Attracting the attention of every prospective lot buyer in the city of Glendale the big wind-up sale of choice, scenic homesites in Suburban Heights which opened today at 2 o'clock, shows every indication of being one of the most heavily attended sales in the past few months.

"There is every indication that every single lot that we are offering in this exclusive residential district will be snapped up before the close of Sunday's business," said Harold Blackmore of the Suburban Realty company. The fact that all lots owned by this company are to be advanced in price $250 after 5 o'clock Monday, doubtless has led to the big attendance at today's sale which will again be repeated tomorrow. This advance in price is due to the fact that Suburban Heights is today not only classed as the exclusive residential district of Glendale but is now a well developed community with all street improvements completed and many magnificent homes erected.

"The wonderful panorama of scenery that is viewed from the elevation of Suburban Heights is in a class by itself, overlooking as it does the whole San Fernando Valley, Glendale, and the wonderful array of fine homes, beautiful gardens and fruit ranches. Transportation is easily accessible, the red cars pass within two blocks of Suburban Heights and the new motor bus lines will run right through our main boulevard. Taking everything into consideration our big sale of today and tomorrow offers the people of Glendale one of the greatest opportunities of their lives to place a very few dollars into one of the most profitable ventures of their lives. Thousands are coming to Glendale to live in the next few years and a big percentage of these people will naturally seek the better class residential district wherein to make their home. These people will pay any price within reason in order to secure a Suburban Heights home, consequently today's buyers at the especially low prices of today should reap an exceptionally rich reward."

One way to keep your credit good is to pay your debts promptly.

Charts Prove Facts About Origin of West Indian Hurricanes

Several important points bearing on the origin and course of West Indian hurricanes have been brought out through a series of studies carried on by C. L. Mitchell, meteorologist of the Weather Bureau, United States Department of Agriculture.

The tracks of all tropical storms originating over the Atlantic Ocean, Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico from 1887 to 1922 were plotted. Other data bearing on tropical disturbances were obtained from daily North Atlantic charts of the Weather Bureau. Separate charts were made of the storms for each of the months when hurricanes are prevalent, from June to November, together with a few earlier and later storms. Classification of storms, according to their intensity, was included.

August and the first half of September show by far the greatest frequency of the true hurricanes, many of them originating in the vicinity of the Cape Verde Islands. Some moved westward, entering the Caribbean Sea and passing south of Cuba and Haiti. Others turned to the northwest before reaching the Lesser Antilles and so passed north of Haiti and Cuba. The remainder moved northwestward, curving in about latitude 25 degrees north to 30 degrees north and between longitude 50 degrees west and 70 degrees west.

The most important results developed by the study are: (1) The great majority of tropical cyclones developed either over the western third of the Caribbean Sea or far to the eastward of the Lesser Antilles, especially in the vicinity of the Cape Verde Islands. None developed over the eastern two-thirds of the Caribbean Sea. (2) The influence of anti-cyclones over the direction of progress of tropical cyclones is very marked. (3) Tropical cyclones recurve to the northward and northeastward at the first favorable opportunity. Irrespective of longitude or time of year. (4) When the paths of tropical cyclones describe a loop it is always to the left.

SOUTH GLENDALE LEASE FOR $200,000

South Glendale is furnishing some sensations these days, following the opening of the new white way. The property at the northwest corner of Los Feliz and San Fernando roads was leased recently for a term of 50 years at a total rental of $200,000. It was bought a few years ago for $3700, just $300 less than it now brings in as a yearly income. The property just across the street east, where W. E. Anderson's oil station has been for several years, sold yesterday for $40,000. Both these corners will soon be improved by large business buildings.

PLAN NOW TO PLANT TREES

Why the word "plan" in "Plan to Plant Another Tree"?

"Think about it. 'Plan to Plant Another Tree' is a phrase that might accomplish a part of that which 'Plan to Plant Another Tree' urges—more planting. But the mere placing of a tree, a shrub or a flower in the ground, with no thought to its selection, no care for its growing—that is not all the movement urges. It is the planning of planting—a regard for the climate in which it is to flourish, for the need it is to fill, for the benefits it is to give, for the setting in which it is to stand—on these things 'Plan to Plant Another Tree' lays the emphasis. It means the right tree for the right place."

"Plan to Plant Another Tree" believes that there has been too much careless, thoughtless, unplanned planting in the past; that this, with the too-general neglect after planting, is responsible for the failures in club, community or individual planting. "Plan to Plant Another Tree" therefore lays the emphasis on the planning for planting, the giving of time and thought to the choice of material, its location, the actual planting, and then its care.

ANNUAL SHOW OF WILD FLOWERS IS SET FOR MONDAY

The annual wild flower show will open promptly at 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon, May 5, at the Southwest Museum, Los Angeles. The opening address will be given by Dr. Frederick E. Clemens, well known representative of the Carnegie Institute, who has again graciously consented to give a lecture on wild flowers and trees, illustrating his subject with beautifully colored lantern slides. The lecture is scheduled for 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, May 7.

On the evening of May 7 Rev. George Holt will lecture on the subject of wild flowers, taking as his title, "A Scenic Tour Among the Wild Flowers of California," illustrating his subject with autochromes. The lecture commences promptly at 8 o'clock. For the benefit of those who cannot attend the Museum during the day, it has been arranged to have the Museum thrown open to the public on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

On Tuesday afternoon, May 8, at 2 o'clock, Mr. H. H. Rockwell of Glendale will speak on "California Wild Flowers and the Purpose of the Wild Flower Club."

On Tuesday evening, May 8, at 8 o'clock, Mr. Francis M. Fultz will speak on "Our Socialist Wild Flowers," illustrating his subject with beautifully colored lantern slides.

Wednesday afternoon and evening will be given over to a general view of the flowers with guides to assist the public in identifying the various species, which will also be labeled in detail.

Wednesday evening will also include a Spanish Evening program.

KING TO BUY INTO AUTOMOBILE LINE

James H. Little has been authorized by the railroad commission to sell and C. H. King to purchase a one-third interest in an automobile freight and express line operated between Glendale and Los Angeles.

SOME REAL FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

The rubber industry in the United States is the sixth largest industry, producing nearly one billion dollars worth of rubber annually.

This industry consumes more than half a million bales of cotton annually.

It consumed more than 600,000,000 pounds of crude rubber last year.

The bulk of the crude rubber comes from plantations in British and Dutch colonies in the Orient. Last fall the British Protectorates placed a tax on crude rubber exports which has resulted in restricted production.

American rubber manufacturers have protested against this tax measure, known as the Stevenson plan, on the ground that it will be injurious to both rubber growers and primary rubber consumers.

The world needs not only all the rubber available today but more to keep pace with the growing demands for rubber and the increasing uses. Rubber today is used in 30,000 different ways.

Until the United States is able to produce its own rubber, which is a problem which will require from five to ten years to solve, this country will be dependent upon foreign sources.

In the meantime the law of supply and demand and not restriction appears to be in the interest of both producers and American consumers.

SPUR TRACK AT ETIWANDA TRACT

Permission has been granted by the railroad commission to the Santa Fe Railway company to construct a spur track at grade across Arrowhead avenue, Vineyard avenue and Grand avenue, west of Malada street in the Etiwanda Vineyard tract, San Bernardino county.

When the surgeon goes after inside information he gets it.

VIEW OF VALLEY SECURED FROM TRACT

A most inspiring view of the entire valley is obtainable from the Tenth street Vale View tract, which is located above Konech road and in the neighborhood of Brand's Castle.

J. M. Boland, owner of this tract, states that one advantage offered in this property is the fact that most of the lots face on a paved boulevard, but are moderately priced. They are offered at dimensions of 50x164 feet, which makes them desirable as homesites.

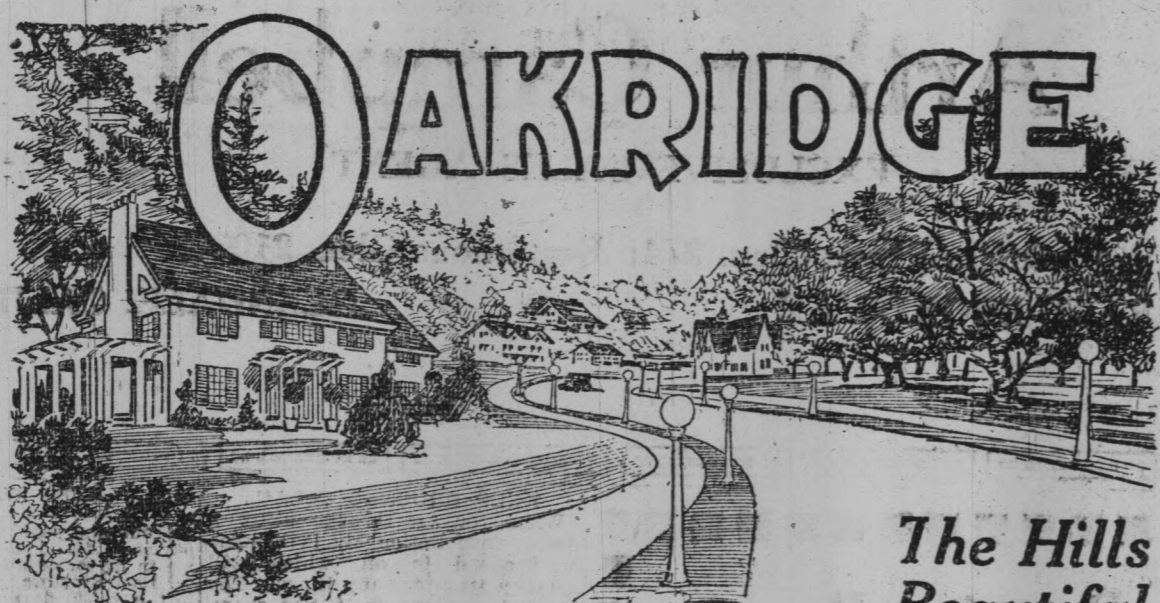

The tract begins three blocks west of Grand View, and is just three blocks from school. The proposed bus line, it is reported, would render service to this tract. In order to introduce the tract to the motoring public, Mr. Boland is to have a salesman on the tract on Sunday afternoons.

MANY KINDS OF BRUSHES

In selecting brushes, always bear in mind there is a brush for each different kind of work. A carpenter would not think of trying to get along with merely a saw and hammer. He has various kinds of saws, hammers and planes—and other tools too numerous to mention—to fit every phase of his work. In the same way, the proper assortment of brushes to fit every class of work will enable you to finish a job quicker and better.

Along the border in Texas the killing of a Mexican is not regarded by some of the "Texans as an occurrence of much importance—rather treated like the killing of a deer or coyote. Not long ago a former resident of Fort Worth and the friend said, "Hello, Jim, what is the news down in the told town?" To which Jim replied: "Well there ain't much new except Jack Miller killed a Mexican the other day, and they say he weighed 200 pounds."

OAKRIDGE The Hills Beautiful ANNOUNCING THE OPENING SUNDAY, MAY 6th, 1923

This beautiful view property, with its stately trees and natural beauty is NOW open to the public.

Scenic driveways will be opened into the hills, and the present scheme of paved streets, with ornamental street illumination used in the lower tract, will be carried out, making this one of the very finest residential sections in Southern California.

From the summit of these hills you may see the World.

The contour of these wonderful hills is so varied that no two sites are identical in size or shape, but each has its own individuality—this offers a great selection from which to choose.

Our visualizing architect will pass on all building plans and assist in working out appropriate exterior plans for each site.

Highly restricted and for private residences only. This will amply protect the purchaser and insure increase in values.

The climatic conditions in these hills are ideal, both winter and summer, being favored with a gentle sea breeze through the Los Feliz pass.

Why live down on the level when you can buy a beautiful view site for the same price, everything considered.

This property is close to business, schools and car lines and yet from its very nature and location it is exclusive and makes one feel as if you were back in the hills, away from the hustle and bustle of the world.

As the Number of Sites Is Limited
We Suggest That You Make Your Selections NOW.

CAHUENGA PARK TO WITNESS DARING STUNT

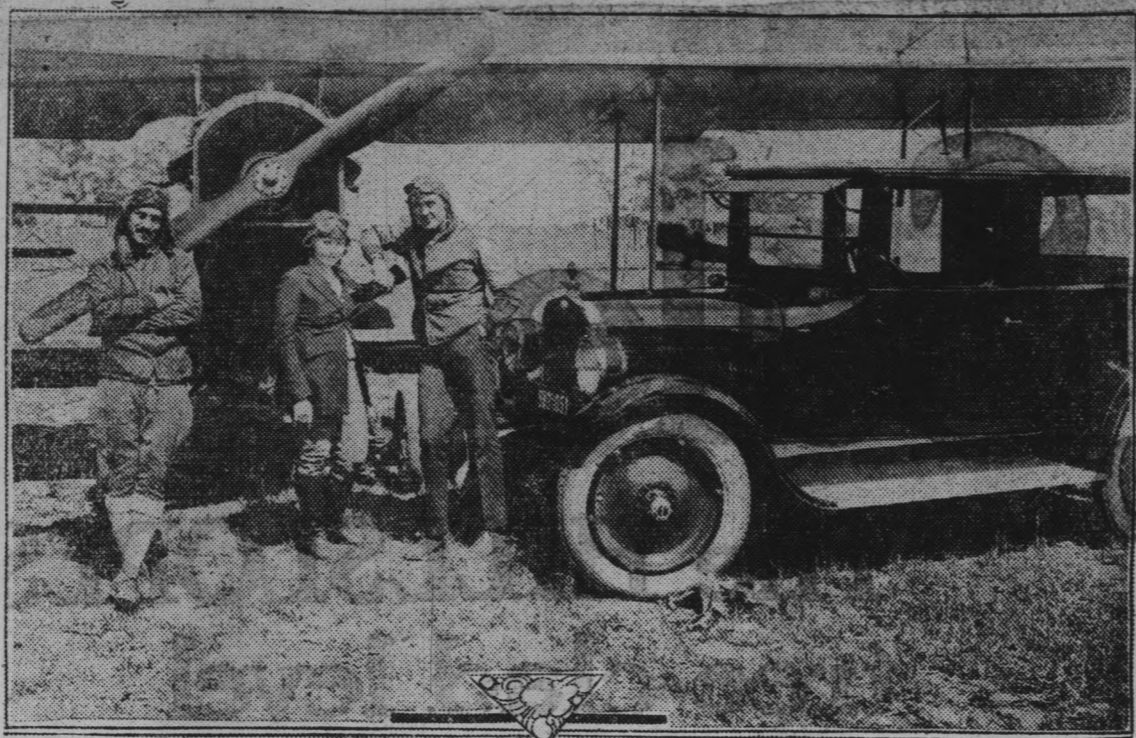

Among the recent converts to the Oakland is Miss Gladys Roy, the daring aviatrix who holds the world's record for low altitude parachute jumping and is to attempt the raising of woman's altitude record next Sunday at Cahuenga park on Ventura boulevard in the San Fernando valley.

Thousands of people have been thrilled with the spectacular efforts of Miss Roy in her daredevil stunts of wing walking and aerobatics while flying in an airplane thousands of feet above the good old earth. These stunts are just as thrilling to her, so she says, and that is why she performs them.

"I have made 11 difficult parachute leaps in the last year," says Miss Roy, "and if you could experience the wonderful sensation that comes with the ride down in a parachute you'd know why I delight in this sort of work. There is no sense of falling. It is more like a ride on the top of a cloud. It is smooth and you do not feel the flight through space. This had something to do with my selection of the Oakland as the car to drive. These smart cars run along the road as quietly and smoothly as a parachute leaps earthward and I get a real 'kick' out of a ride in both of them.

"Aeronautic stunts are so easy that after my first attempt at wing-walking, I laughed at the people who stood below with their breaths in their hip pockets. When I lowered the low altitude parachute jump at Cahuenga Park in the San Fernando valley, last fall, many experienced men advised me to forget it, but not me. I lowered it and now I am after the woman's high altitude record which is already in excess of 16,000 feet and next Sunday with Pilot Kenneth Montee in his new plane, we will circle upwards over Cahuenga park until the barograph shows an altitude in excess of the present record and then I'll leap out among the clouds. I prefer making these flights at Cahuenga park because of the wind conditions there. This attempt will be under the supervision of the Aero club of Southern California and Roy Gracie, secretary of the club, will officiate in order to make the figures official. We expect to start the climb about 2

GLENOAKS LURES LANDSCAPE ARTISTS

An interesting fact concerning Glenoaks, the attractive new subdivision recently made available to home-seekers in Glendale by the Frank Meline Company, is revealed by Haeccall S. Hall, manager of the tract.

According to Mr. Hall, no less than three professional landscape artists have already purchased lots in Glenoaks, where they will build homes of their own, and incorporate decorative landscape effects.

"I have made 11 difficult parachute leaps in the last year," says Miss Roy, "and if you could experience the wonderful sensation that comes with the ride down in a parachute you'd know why I delight in this sort of work. There is no sense of falling. It is more like a ride on the top of a cloud. It is smooth and you do not feel the flight through space. This had something to do with my selection of the Oakland as the car to drive. These smart cars run along the road as quietly and smoothly as a parachute leaps earthward and I get a real 'kick' out of a ride in both of them.

"This is certainly a striking testimony to the beauty and distinctiveness of Glenoaks," said Mr. Hall. "Considering all the subdivisions now on the market, it is a very high tribute to this picturesque spot.

"These landscape artists have already spent considerable time taking snapshots and making sketches. I look forward with no small degree of pleasure and anticipation to the development of these particular home sites, which are among the most attractive in the Glen."

Mr. Hall reports that interest in the beauty of Glenoaks is not confined to landscape artists, but that one of Southern California's most famous pictorial artists has already made arrangements to come to Glenoaks and make some sketches of its scenic attractions, before a rush of home-seekers somewhat alters its rugged natural beauty. This artist maintains that canyons such as Glenoaks being exceedingly rare, he intends to make the most of the opportunity.

Habit is a stubborn thing when possessed by a stubborn person.

Ignorance and conceit are twins.

PLANS OF OAKMONT CLUB WILL SOON BE COMPLETE

The latest word on the Oakmont Country Club building outlook is that the plans will be completed and available for use in ten days or two weeks. This announcement was made to day by Roy Kent, architect, who has been drawing up the plans.

The structure will be in Old English, rustic style, and it is estimated that the actual building will require about two months' time for completion, costing approximately $50,000. Many features of this clubhouse will be found to be superior to any other in Southern California, where country clubs enjoy a popularity unequalled in any part of the country.

The clubhouse is to be located in a 115-acre area of some of the finest foot hill property, originally a part of the Sparr Heights tract. This acreage is to be utilized as a golf course, for the most part, but will offer sufficient grounds for tennis courts and other sports.

The clubhouse will contain a dance floor 60 by 130 feet in dimensions, with additional space in the pergola for tables or dancing. The dining-room will be 40 by 10 feet, and offer accommodations for 200. The lounge, which measures 40 by 60 feet, is to have a huge cobbles fireplace, which will be open on four sides. The kitchen measures 30 by 37 feet and will be equipped at a cost of over $4000.

The entire south wing is to be made into ladies' quarters. There will be ladies' private lounge, showers and lockers, and the whole will be charmingly furnished for their comfort. There is also to be an enclosed children's playground, in order that parents may leave their children under care while they are out on the golf course or enjoying other pastimes.

The swimming pool that is planned for the club will be the longest to be owned by any country club in the southwest. It will be 75 feet long and 35 feet wide. This pool is to be constructed of artificial ledge rock and will be installed by William Hooper of Montrose, who is said to be an expert in the construction of rock-work. When completed, the swimming pool will give the appearance of a natural brook, untouched by the hand of man.

The material things have not been forgotten in the consideration of the Oakmont Country club, for it is rumored that a noted chef has been engaged to ply the culinary arts in the modernly equipped kitchen. Who this very important personage is, is being guarded carefully at the present time, due to the fact that he has not yet severed his connection elsewhere.

The membership in the Oakmont club is limited to 750, although there is no restriction as to the source of membership. In looking over the list of members, it will be found, however, that Glendale, Los Angeles and Montrose hold the majority, while Hollywood, Eagle Rock and Burbank are also represented in a minor degree.

The Oakmont Country club seems to be the outgrowth of the general desire throughout California to penetrate into the hill country and enjoy the delights of the out-of-doors that beckon to those who dwell in Los Angeles, Glendale and the surrounding cities. H. M. Parker is credited with first promoting the Oakmont Country Club, and received the backing of many influential people who were interested in the forming of a club of this nature. The site of the Oakmont Country club, which has formerly a part of Sparr Heights, seemed to meet at once with the approval of the club promoters, who immediately endorsed the negotiations for the purchase of the 115 acres which are now the property of the Oakmont Country club.

Final Half of ^{BEAUTIFUL} Bellehurst Park

The irresistible appeal of a great and never-to-be-forgotten opportunity beckons you to Beautiful Bellehurst Park, Glendale, tomorrow.

The same powerful and SOUND REASONS that sent a veritable flood of shrewd investors and homeseekers sweeping over the first one-half of Beautiful Bellehurst Park, selling out a million dollar tract CLEAN in a month's time, operates even more potently today.

Tomorrow will be a critically important date in the life of many a man and woman in Southern California.

It will either be the date when they secured a marvelous and unduplicable piece of property at a price so low as to leave an IMMENSE MARGIN OF PROFIT, or a date to which they will look back with never ceasing regret.

For there is not and never can be ANYTHING quite like Bellehurst Park.

CLOSER IN TIME than the elevated level land and foothill slopes of Hollywood and Beverly Hills.

—scenically EVEN MORE beautiful.

—at ONE-THIRD the price.

—in the HEART of the fastest growing city in the United States.

—with careful restrictions and improvements included in the purchase price.

And mark this: While there are thousands of acres of flat land in and around Los Angeles, there is ONLY A LITTLE of this beautiful elevated land along the foothills—the kind of elevation that in every great city of the world attracts the finest homes and everywhere commands FABULOUS PRICES.

All Los Angeles is aware of this! It accounts for the rush and excitement over the first offering of Bellehurst Park.

It accounts for the insistent clamor for "more" of this wonderful high-lying, at-the-base-of-the-mountains property, which compels us to place the second half of Bellehurst Park on sale three months ahead of our plans.

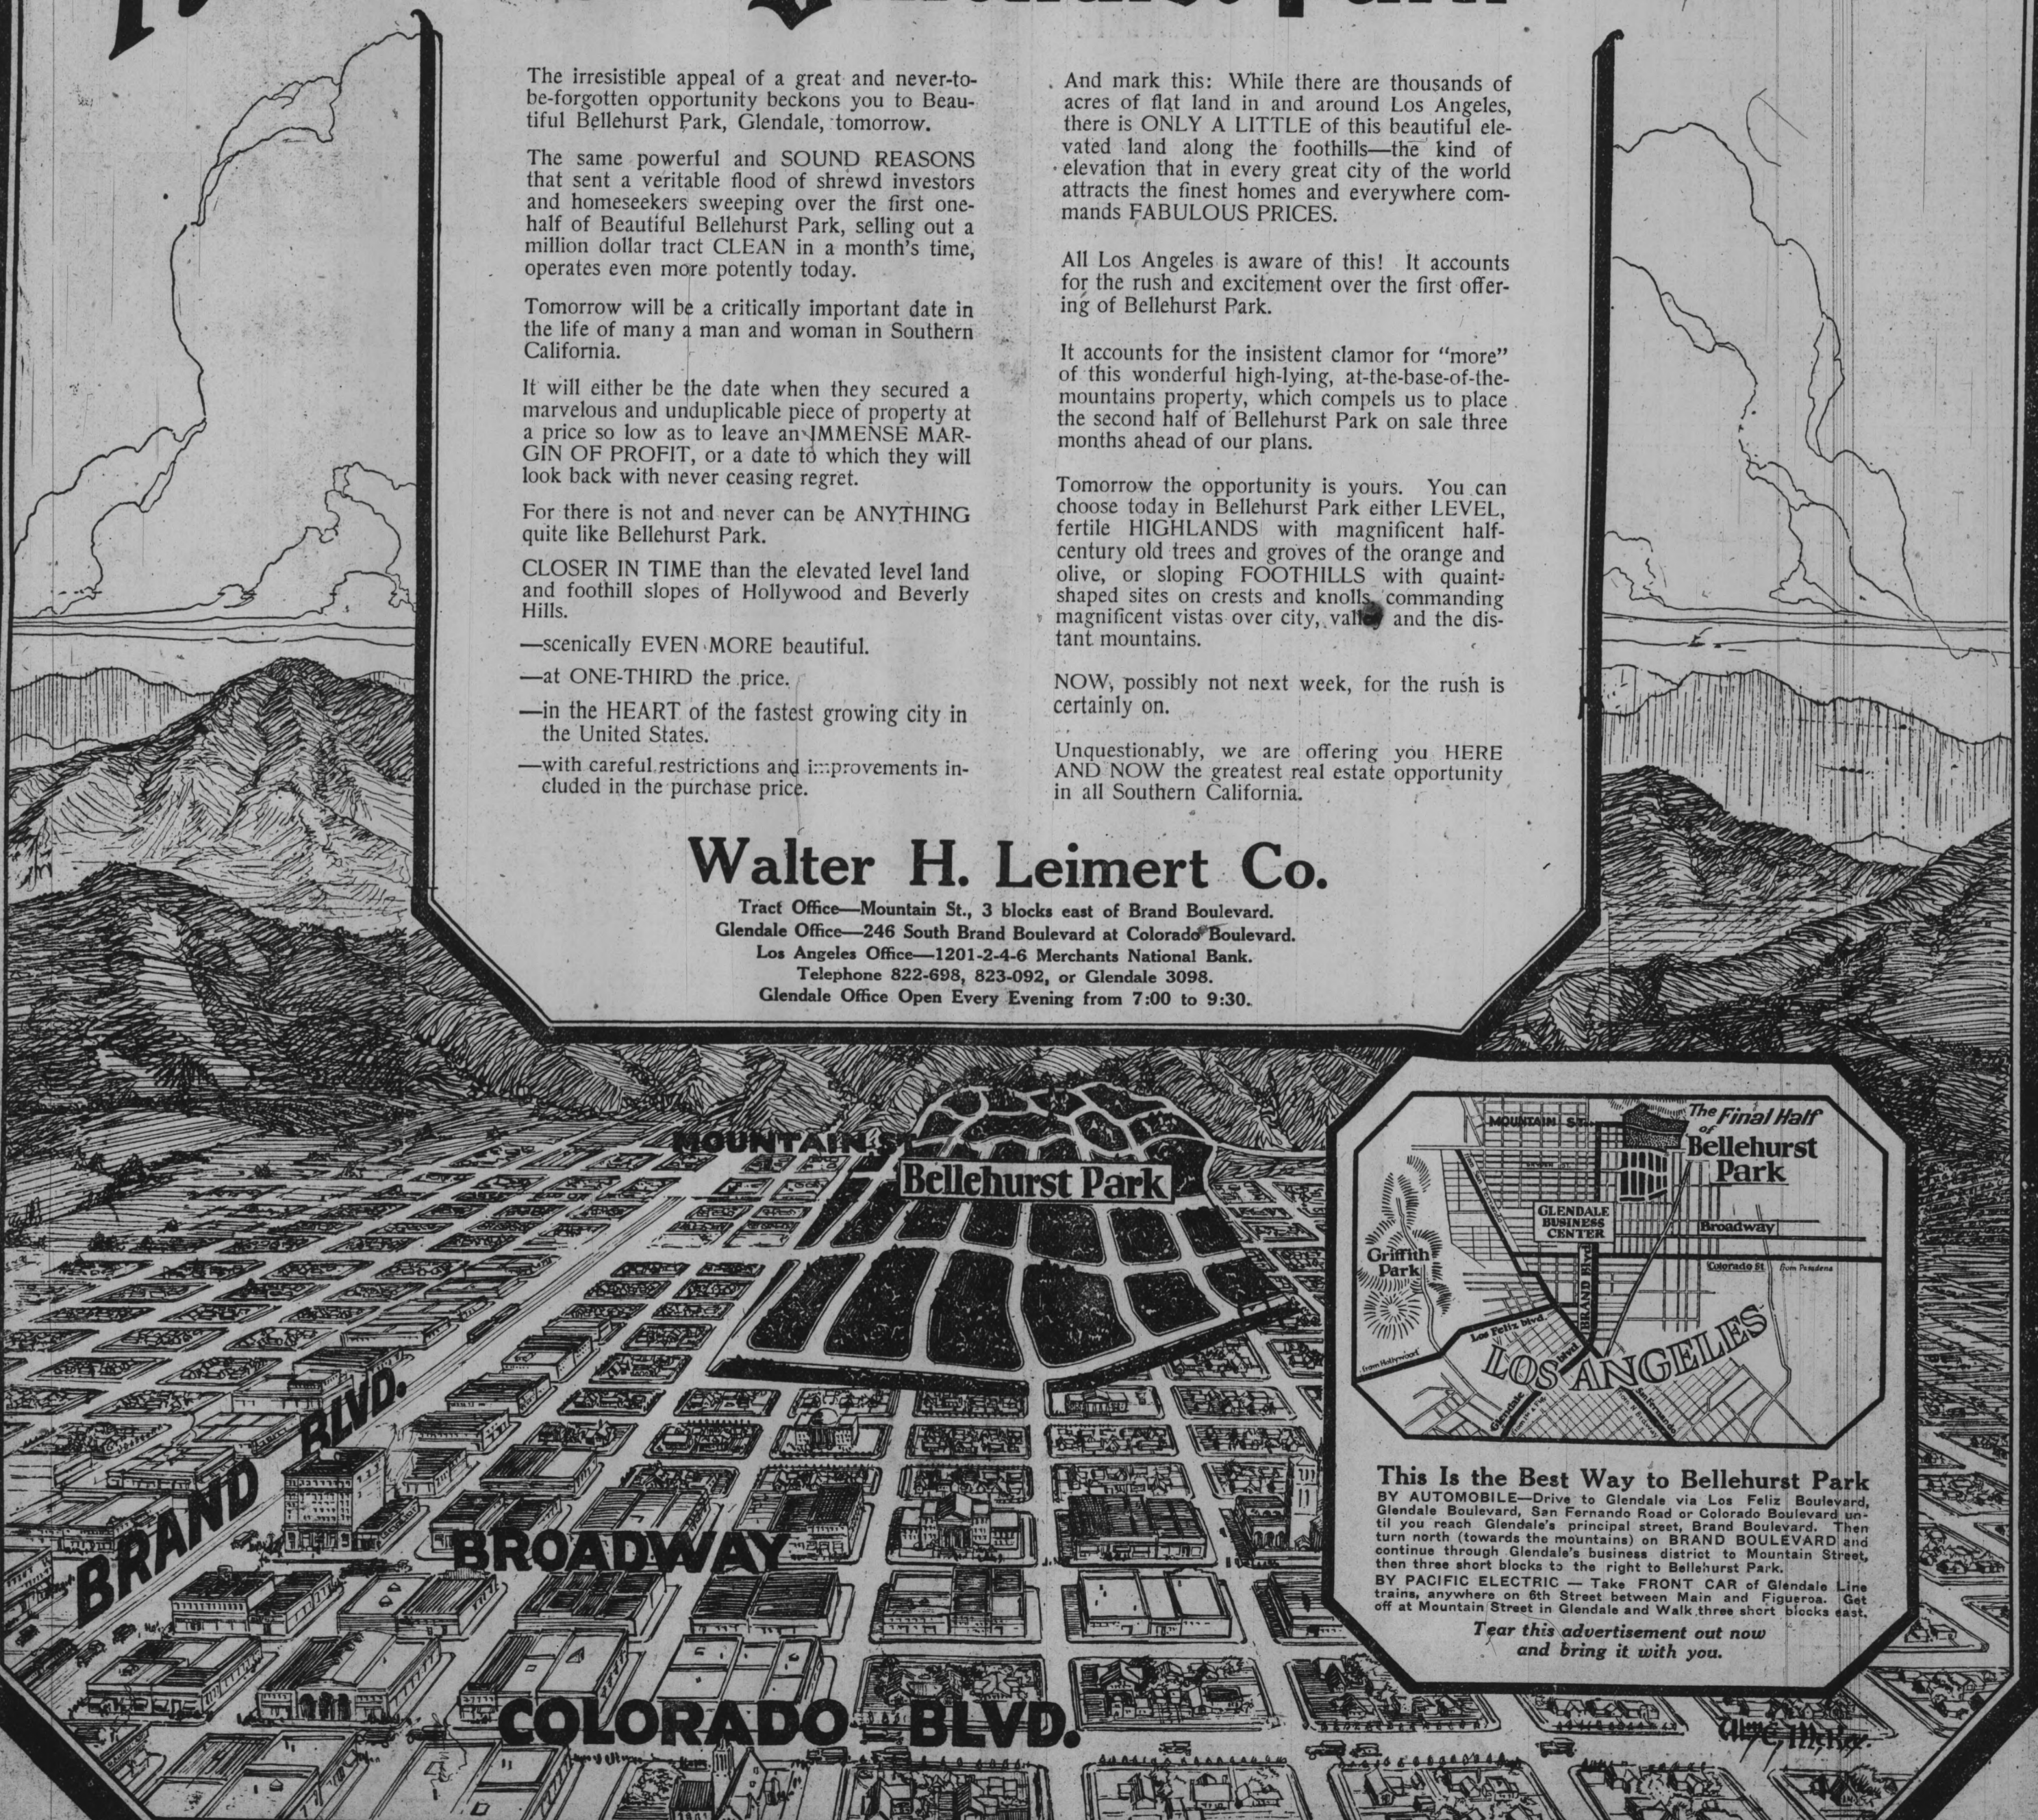

Tomorrow the opportunity is yours. You can choose today in Bellehurst Park either LEVEL, fertile HIGHLANDS with magnificent half-century old trees and groves of the orange and olive, or sloping FOOTHILLS with quaint-shaped sites on crests and knolls, commanding magnificent vistas over city, valley and the distant mountains.

NOW, possibly not next week, for the rush is certainly on.

Unquestionably, we are offering you HERE AND NOW the greatest real estate opportunity in all Southern California.

World Right at Glendale's Door, Inviting the "Cityite" to Get Close to Nature

By ALBERT MARPLE

If the sun continues to shine, Sunday will be an ideal day for the automobile picnic trip. The last few days have, with their warm sun days and their balmy breezes, had the effect of making the man in the city just a little squirmish—seems just like something is wrong—things are not just as they should be. That's the way a fellow always feels when the spring fever begins to take hold. After it is well under way he knows absolutely where the trouble is and right then and there he begins to look over the camping outfit and to get things in shape for the summer jaunt.

But while the would-be camper is getting things ready there is no need of him overlooking the close-to-home pleasure, such as the family trip to the nearby parks where a pot of coffee can be boiled and a whole flock of "doggies" can be roasted. Might as well live as you are going along.

In this story the beauties and wonders of Griffith park in Los Angeles, and Brookside in Pasadena are dwelt upon. These picnic grounds are very well known to a lot of the motorists of this section. They have visited them often and have been benefitted thereby. There are, however, many car owners residing and visiting in this section who will welcome a little information concerning the two parks in question.

The first suggestion is the old standby—Bee Rock park. This picnic ground is located in the wonderful Griffith park, which is owned by Los Angeles and is one of the largest municipal parks in the country. For years and years Bee Rock park has extended its arms to the motorists of Southern California and during those years thousands of automobile parties have enjoyed the wonderful setting of this picnic ground. There are two sections to Bee Rock park. Both of these sections are equipped with good concrete stoves with grates. The management of the park furnishes all the wood that is needed for these stoves. Nothing tastes so good as a "feet" built out in the open. The rear section of the covering of these stoves is equipped for coffee making, while the front is in the form of a grate where the weiners may be roasted or the steak may be broiled to a delicious brown, there being just enough of the smoky flavor to make it taste "just like outdoors." The motorist who has ever enjoyed a steak done in this way will know just what it means. The repeat may be spread on one of the long tables that are set beneath the widespread branches of the mammoth wild oaks.

The picnic grounds are not the only attractions of this park, for there is a zoo in connection. While interesting to the grown-ups, this will appeal especially to the little ones, for there are deer, buffalo, camels, bears, birds of all kinds and other things that will make this collection a pleasure.

Then close to the picnic grounds is the municipal golf course, which is covered with enthusiastic golfers during every sunny hour of every holiday—and some that are not so bright and cheerful. This golf course has a general north and south direction, with the various holes and driving tees extending up into the little coves or canyons. Taken all in all, this is one of the most delightful golf courses in Southern California. This result of it being practically all nature-made. Of course, all of the improvements were done by workmen, but the course in general was "laid out" by an unseen hand.

The hills of Griffith park are unusually delightful during this time of the year. The rains have covered them with a coating of green. A few hours in this park will put a fellow back on his feet and prepare him for the hurry of the coming week.

To reach Bee Rock park go south on Central from the intersection of Broadway and Central to Los Feliz road, and west along this highway, over the Southern Pacific tracks, and across the Los Angeles river to the entrance of the park. Turn right at the park entrance, and follow the upper (main traveled) road into the park.

Brookside park is another wonderful, secluded picnic grounds where the motorist may take his market basket full of "grub" and build one of the most wonderful "feet" imaginable. This park also has a number of wood stoves, for which wood is furnished. In addition it has several gas plates, where the picnicker may insert 10 cents and secure sufficient gas to cook the largest kind of a picnic meal. This feature will be appealing to the person who does not like wood-fire making. This surely is

AUTO ACCIDENTS ARE ON INCREASE

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—(United Press).—In an official report today the Automobile club of Southern California announced there have been 1930 accidents since the first of the year in the city, an increase of 279 accidents over last year.

Fatalities for the same period decreased, however, there being 54 killed this year to date in the city as against 64 last year for a similar period.

To curb accidents and deaths the club suggests placing officers in civilian clothes to drive around the streets. In this way the actions of motorists can be easily observed, as drivers will be unaware of the presence of the law.

OPENING DATES FOR PARKS ARE GIVEN

In announcing the opening and closing dates of the National Park seasons for 1923, Secretary Work of the Interior Department issued the following invitation to the American people:

"With a lavish hand nature has moulded throughout our land the most magnificent and awe-inspiring scenery surpassing in beauty and grandeur that offered by any foreign country. These spots—our national parks—have been set aside by the American government to be maintained untouched by the inroads of modern civilization so that you and your children may enjoy them.

"Roads have been built through deep-cut canyons, across towering mountain ranges, beside rippling streams, filled with fighting trout and into primal forests. Hotels and camps have been erected to provide comfortable accommodations in the most distant and inaccessible places. Free camp grounds have been provided for those who wish to bring their own equipment and camp out.

"These unspoiled bits of native America are for you. They are the playgrounds and the recreation parks of the people. To visit them and see them is to inspire pride and make more real your love for America. In the name of the government, I invite you to be its guest."

The opening and closing dates of the park seasons are:

Crater Lake, Ore., July 1 to September 30.
General Grant, Cal., May 24 to October 10.
Glacier, Mont., June 15 to September 15.
Grand Canyon, Ariz., open all the year.

Hawaii, Hawaiian Islands, open all the year.

Lafayette, Me., open all the year.

Lassen Volcanic, Cal., June 1 to September 15.

Mesa Verde, Colo., May 15 to November 1.

Mt. McKinley, Alaska July 1 to September 15.

Mt. Rainier, Wash., June 15 to September 15.

Platt, Okla., open all the year.

Rocky Mountain, Colo., open all the year.

Sequoia, Cal., May 24 to October 10.

Sully's Hill, N. D., June 1 to September 30.

Wind Cave, S. D., June 1 to September 30.

Yellowstone, Wyo., June 20 to September 30.

Yosemite, Cal., open all the year.

Zion, Utah, May 15 to October 15.

Preparations to take care of 1,500,000 visitors in all the national parks this year are being made. Public camp grounds for the motor camper are being extended, and the hotels and permanent camps are increasing their facilities for handling visitors. Transportation lines are adding new equipment.

WAWONA ROAD TO YOSEMITE NOW OPEN

The Yosemite National Park authorities now state that while the road was passable by Saturday, April 28, they do not recommend use of the Wawona route until the second week in May.

Although road crews have been hard at work on Chowchilla Mountain grades, additional rains have slowed them up, preventing the opening of the road as early as had been expected.

Other roads to the Yosemite are expected to be opened by the following dates, according to Superintendent W. B. Lewis: Big Oak Flat road, by June 1 (possibly earlier); Glacier Point road, by June 1 (possibly earlier); Tioga road by July 15 (possibly by July 1).

A broken windshield or wind can be temporarily mended by pasting paper binding strips (the kind used to secure packages) on the outside and inside of the break.

OPEN ROAD WEEK TO OCCUR MAY 13-19

LOS ANGELES, MAY 5.—Southern California's 1923 "Call of the Open Road" week fostered by the Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers' association and scheduled for May 13 to 19, inclusive, promises to be the biggest and best ever staged.

This is the opinion expressed by leaders of the movement as the time approaches for the "opening curtain" of the great annual "play" on outdoor attractions as offered by Los Angeles and surrounding towns.

Third annual event of this kind, the "Call of the Open Road" now has definitely been established as a regular yearly institution in Southern California, the idea has spread to the northern part of the state and, before next year, it is anticipated, the boosting of the "open road" at this season may become interstate or even nationwide in its scope.

As in previous observances of the "call," the widest sort of publicity will be given the various scenic resorts lying within motor-driving distance of Los Angeles. Joining with this city various motor car dealers' associations and similar organizations of nearby cities and towns are expected to stage local fiestas and to aid in promoting the movement.

For the first time in the history of the annual event, the radio will be utilized to disseminate the spirit of utilization of the open. This together with special automobile and open road editions of city and suburban daily newspapers, stories and pictures in local magazines, window cards and letter enclosures and every other possible means of publicity, is expected to boost the "open road" to such an extent that every person in the Southland will feel the urge to get at the wheel and leave the cities' walls.

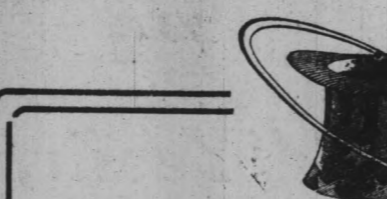

Department stores, sporting goods houses and other merchants—especially those merchandising goods which might be used for camping, fishing, motoring, etc.—are co-operating in Los Angeles with the motor car dealers. They have agreed to dress special windows and to embrace "Call of the Open Road" messages in their advertisements.

Members of the committee in charge are Robert S. Breyer, chairman; Winslow B. Felix and J. Benjamin Faly. Burt Roberts, executive secretary of the Motor Car Dealers' association, is acting as manager of the outdoor "drive."

HOBOS BREAK ROAD SIGNS

LOS ANGELES, May 5. (United Press).—Destruction of a great number of automobile road signs throughout California was blamed today on the hobo fraternity by officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Following a number of murders recently of motorists who had taken in strangers to ride with them, the club started a "Don't give strangers lifts" campaign. This slogan has enraged itinerant wobblies and tramps, club officials say, and destruction of club signs along the roads has resulted.

Never use the same can or bucket to carry water and gasoline. A particle of water or dirt in the gasoline may cause a lot of trouble.

What will your car be worth a year from today?

In purchasing an automobile, one should think seriously of this question.

In the RICKENBACKER SIX we have the ease of operation, a steady stream of vibrationless power. Luxurious riding qualities, low maintenance, together with little depreciation.

A. A. A. SAYS GO AHEAD WITH RUN

Official sanction for the 1923 Los Angeles-Camp Curry Economy Run May 18th and 19th, has been received from the A. A. A. contest board, and a large list of entries is now on file, according to advice received here by Mrs. D. A. Curry, president of the Curry Camping company, which annually donates trophies for this nationally important motor event.

J. A. C. Waters of Los Angeles is in charge of this year's run and reports a favorable reception by the Southern California motor car distributors of the innovations announced for this year's run. There will be six classes instead of five this year, making the run more thoroughly and fairly competitive than heretofore.

In view of the increasing interest among the motoring public in automobile economy, it is predicted that more importance will be attached to the results of this year's contest than to those of any similar tour ever held.

While the Economy Run is the most important motor event of the year, a number of other runs are also scheduled to arrive at Camp Curry this season. Managers Don Tresidder and Bob Williams have announced that more runs are programmed for the Yosemite this year than ever before. Among those left for May, in addition to the Los Angeles economy event, are runs from Merced, from Stockton, from Fresno and from Modesto.

THE C. L. SMITHS CATCH TROUT LIMIT

Within ten minutes after Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith of Glendale dropped their lines into Arrowhead lake last Monday morning, each had a dandy rainbow trout. From the moment the first trout was landed until the limit was reached it was simply a question of "haul 'em in." And such sport! Here's how C. L. tells about it:

"Never had so much fun in all my life. The snappy little fellows started in just as soon as we landed on the job and the way they kept a-comeing was something wonderful. Long before breakfast time we had our limits. In fact, we had some of the trout we caught for the morning meal."

"And while we are on the subject of fishing and automobile, you might be interested to know," went on Mr. Smith, "that on Thursday of this week we got in 15 new cars, most of which were sold before they reached Glendale."

"We are trying to get a few cars ahead so that we will be ready for the car shortage that is sure to come this spring and summer, but try as we may we can't seem to do this. Just as soon as we get in a big shipment, hoping to put some of them away, the people flock around and take them from us."

"We are receiving new cars daily, of all types, and we always have cars on hand for demonstration."

Emery paper should never be used for cleaning moving parts of a car.

FAULTY BRAKES CAUSE ACCIDENTS

An analysis of the causes of automobile accidents shows that 65 percent are due to the failure of brakes to properly function. According to safety associations and automobile insurance actuaries a large number of the motor vehicles being operated over the streets in every city have brakes that need adjustment. Several states, cities and towns have passed laws requiring periodic inspection of brakes for the safety of the public. In New York city a special squad of policemen operating under the Department of Public Safety devotes its entire time to brake inspection.

State authorities, especially traffic policemen, have struggled valiantly with the problem of controlling traffic, the fundamental idea being to reduce accidents to a minimum. Most of the states have laws regulating the candle power of headlights, and requiring certain improved lenses, which are so controlled that they do not blind drivers approaching from the opposite direction; laws requiring proper signaling devices, such as horns, and the like; and in some states it is necessary to carry a mirror on the car so that the operator may at a glance see what traffic conditions are behind him. These requirements are necessary, but it is a question whether any single one of them is so vitally necessary in the protection of life and property, as the quick and efficient control of the powerful forward thrust of a heavy moving body—the automobile.

SMITH & HOWE NOW HANDLE REAL AUTOS

Bine J. Smith, who has been in the automobile business in Glendale for the past several years, and H. F. Howe, also of Glendale, have just taken over the agency for the Cleveland and Chandler cars in Glendale, with offices and salesrooms at 116 North Maryland avenue.

Both this firm and the cars they are handling are thoroughbreds. Those who know the men realize this fact, and anyone who has ever had anything to do with either of the cars in question has nothing but praise for them.

This firm is ready at all times and more than willing to answer all questions relative to the Chandler or Cleveland. Smith & Terrill, who are in charge of the service department of this firm, are mechanics of many years' experience and they know the Cleveland and Chandler automobiles from one end to the other.

Looks like these two cars are in mighty good hands in Glendale at this time.

ARE YOU AN OFFICE GRINDER? DO YOU PLUG YEAR IN AND YEAR OUT AT YOUR DESK?

If So, This Is a Message for You; It Is a Plea to Get Away From the Office and Out Into the Hills; It Will Do You Good to Play a Little

This is a message to the fellow who is running along on the "ragged edge"—to the man who has been plugging along through the winter with a hope that there was something better ahead.

There are hundreds of such men in Glendale and thousands of them in Southern California. With them it is a question of "How long with this last? When will something come that will pull me out of the rut and place my feet on a plane where I can really live?"

With fellows such as this there is only one thing wrong—they have had too much work.

It has been a case of grind, grind, grind, and the result is that they have ceased to expect anything better, but at the same time there is a little something way down deep in their souls that seems constantly to say:

"Keep a-pluggin', old pal, something is bound to turn up." All this fellow needs is play—real, genuine play. Play without any of the worries of modern business life—play that will bring him back to nature. He should try being a "kid" again.

The purpose of this little story is to persuade, if possible, the office grinder to cease his grinding for awhile and to go into the hills—way, way back from civilization, where unspoiled nature is and where a fellow naturally loses himself in the bliss of his surroundings.

This first step in getting away from the daily grind is to decide to go—the next is to find out where to go. The first is up to the man himself, the next is what the Glendale Press Pink is trying in this story to do.

For the benefit of the readers of the Press Pink this section has combined with the outing department of the Auto Club of Southern California in preparing a list of where to go and fish and what you may expect there. This list follows. It notes all the leading streams and other fishing points in the counties named:

LOS ANGELES COUNTY
Trout fishing in Los Angeles county is confined to the San Gabriel river and its branches, San Antonio creek and Big Rock creek. These are all small mountain streams and conditions about the same in all of them. The streams easily reached by automobile are generally fished out the first month after the season opens, but the ones that are hard to reach afford good fishing throughout the entire season.

Good camp sites may be found along any of these streams. Be sure and have a fire permit before building a fire as all of them are in the national forest.

Resorts where meals, beds and horses may be had are located on these streams. It is only possible to drive an auto up the San Gabriel to Berry Flats camp ground. From here horses, or horse stage may be had to take you several miles farther up.

Ocean fishing is improving all along the Los Angeles county coast. At Long Beach, spotfin, yellowfin are biting from the surf.

Barracuda are just beginning to run and the trolling boats are having good luck.

Fishing excursion boats are bringing in Rock Cod, Whitefish and large mackerel.

From the barge anchored a couple of miles off Long Beach, Jack smelt, Spanish and Green-back mackerel are being caught.

Huntington Beach

Surf fishing has been good the past week. Croakers, yellowfin and corbina are beginning to run.

Pier fishing is improving and herring, halibut, croakers, yellowfin and mackerel are being caught.

At Balboa large yellowfins are being caught from the pier and spotfin croakers in the bay. Barracuda are starting to run off shore.

REDONDO BEACH

Mackerel are being caught from the pier and also from trolling boats.

Following are the best streams and fishing lures to use:

Big Rock creek, San Antonio creek, San Gabriel river, West Fork, North Fork, Iron Fork, Cold Water Canyon, Cattle Canyon, Cow Canyon, Devil's Canyon, Bear creek. Lures: Royal coachman, brown hackle, black gnat, grey hackle, no spinners, salmon eggs, angle worms, grasshoppers, No. 10 and 12 hooks.

Going to Buy a New Car This Spring?

—Then Consider These Facts:

- 1 The Oakland Six-44 is an outstanding success! Every day, more and more buyers are convincing themselves that no other automobile offers an equal dollar-for-dollar value! In little more than a year, the demand has taxed the production facilities of the Oakland factory!
- 2 Oakland is so confident of the superiority of its engine that it gives a written 15,000 mile guarantee against excess oil in the combustion chamber—proof of the superiority of Oakland's cylinder, piston and ring construction. Only Oakland offers such a guarantee.
- 3 Only Oakland gives you a definite gauge with which to estimate the actual mileage an Oakland will deliver—free from expense. Consider Oakland's figures (elsewhere in this advertisement) in the light of your own motoring experience, and you'll appreciate how remarkable they are!
- 4 In Cleveland, the average upkeep on Six-44's last year was only $8.06 per car. Other cities report similarly low averages.

EXCELLENT RECORD IS MADE BY OAKLAND

Talk about performance! Covering 7,300 miles from Mentone, Pa., to La Mesa, California, in an Oakland 6-44, 1923 model, using 310 gallons of gasoline and one gallon of oil. This car reached an elevation of 10,000 feet without changing the adjustment of the carburetor. It also carried a load of 1500 pounds—four people and full camping equipment.

The motor was not touched once during the entire trip and it runs as smooth and easy now as it did when the trip was started. Spark plugs were also as dry as they were at the start, thus showing that the General Motors company is certainly safe when it guarantees the Oakland 6-44 for two years.

The local agents for this car believe there is no car on the market that will give more dollar for dollar service than will the Oakland 6-44. During the trip here described, the motorist talked with other Oakland 6-44 owners and he claims he has yet to find one who was not as thoroughly convinced as he that there is no other car like it—comparing quality, price, performance, comfort and durability.

Promptness Must Be First Thought of Motorist's
First-Aid Man

The p's and q's to be observed at a gasoline service station are promptness and quickness, according to the employees at the Broadway Auto Super-Service Station at 814 East Broadway.

It has been that there is nothing an autoist appreciates more than prompt service at the gas station. The service man has no way of telling, when the motorist makes his approach, whether or not he is in a hurry, so it has become the custom at the Super Service station to take it for granted that every motorist is in a hurry.

In this way, there is no mistake. The motorist invariably is in a hurry, it has been found, and when he is not he does not object to prompt service. In fact, the busy business man motorist demands prompt service.

In addition to embodying the outdoor spirit, this park has a number of features that will appeal to everyone. For instance, there is a beautiful swimming pool where young and old may "plunge" to their heart's content. All it requires is a bathing suit and ten cents. There is also a wading pool and warm days this feature is covered with happy, paddling humanity. A scene that is worth going miles to see. Other features for the children are the swing, the merry-go-round, teeters, etc. A special effort has been made to provide enjoyment features for the little ones. Some tables at this park are located down close to the stoves and also at different points on the side of the hill, beneath oak trees. Another hillside feature is the rustic band pavilion. This is an open air feature where during Sundays and holidays throughout the summer free band concerts are held. From the pavilion upward along the side of the hill are seats for several thousand people.

In connection with this park is an excellent regulation baseball grounds, where semi-professional baseball is played on holidays and sometimes on Sundays. This park is probably the leading municipal park of Pasadena. It is sometimes advisable, if the party is to be a large one and the picnic is to be held on a holiday during the height of the summer, to reserve a table through the park commission of Pasadena. This is an ideal park and is very easy of access.

To reach Brookside, leave Glendale via East Colorado. Continue Rock and across the mammothET on this highway through Eagle Colorado street bridge. When the opposite side of the bridge has been reached turn left and go to the first street and this will take the motorist directly into the park. No admission fee is charged at either of these parks.

OLDSMOBILE HILL CLIMB WEEK MAY 5-13

C.H. Hunter, local Oldsmobile agent, has been notified by the Olds factory that during the week of May 5 to 13 all Olds dealers in the United States would unit on hill-climbing tests. Mr. Hunter invites you to have a hill-climbing test in the Oldsmobile. If you have a pet hill that you would like to try, come in. The Olds is noted for its power. In fact, the Olds holds many hill-climbing records, such as from Sacramento to Reno, Nev., in high, going over the famous slippery Ford grades, sealed in high; San Diego to Phoenix and return, sealed in high gear; pulling eleven grown people over Griffith Park mountain grades in high; fourteen people over Cahunga Pass in high; up Mount Diablo with eighteen people in high. The latest test was climbing Stony mountain in Georgia, where the Olds is the only car that ever succeeded in getting to the top.

RENO, Nev.—The horse racing season will open here June 9, the date having been advanced one week. There will be twenty-five days of racing, and prizes aggregating between $75,000 and $100,000 will be distributed. It is estimated that 400 horses will be housed at the Silver state track for the season.

A man walked into a cigar store and asked the man behind the counter: "Can you recommend a good cigar?"

"Of course I can, sir!" replied the polite clerk, who had just received a week's notice. "But what they expect me to do here is recommend these."

Keep a record of all numbers of the car.

Tighten bolts regularly to prevent squeaking.

Countless thousands of automobile owners and future owners have never seen even the outside of an automobile plant, much less the absorbing steps of manufacture. This is true despite the willingness of many large manufacturers to escort visitors through their factories whenever possible.

For these, a comprehensive book just published by the Reo Motor Car company under the title of "Reasons for Reo," is likely to prove a veritable text book on modern methods and practices in use by manufacturers of high grade automobiles and commercial cars.

The book is particularly interesting because it deals with the history of the automotive industry, pointing out problems that have been solved so successfully that the one-cylinder curiosities of 1904 have developed into super-powered motor vehicles that are a vital part of America's business and economic life.

Still further value is given the treatise by the fact that the Reo Motor Car company, having been continuously manufacturing passenger cars since 1904 and commercial vehicles since 1910, with a record of interrupted success, has acquired a background of experience and first-hand knowledge which makes "Reasons for Reo" strictly authoritative as well as keenly interesting because it reflects this experience.

Since all major units used in Reo products are manufactured in the Reo shops, it is an outstanding feature of the new book that its text describes an unusually large number of actual manufacturing operations.

Sixty-four pages of absorbing text and photographs, many of the latter grouped with four and five pictures on a page, comprise this unusual book. It is printed on high-grade coated white paper, and commendable artistry has been shown throughout in presenting the Reo story frankly, simply, and without prevalence of catalog style.

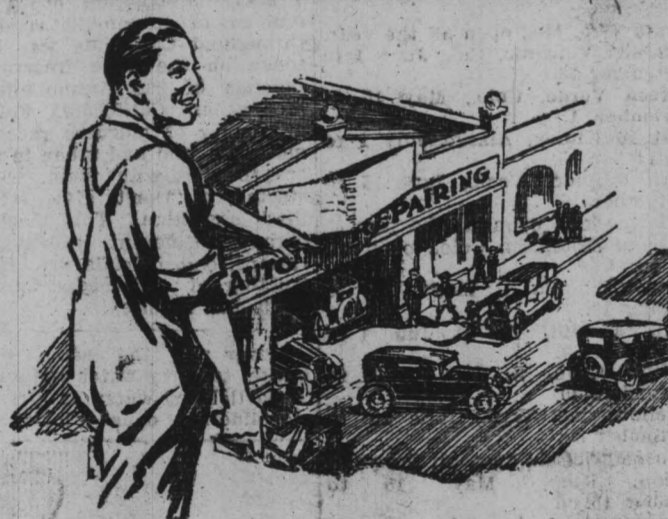

Reo dealers are now receiving their supplies of the book to distribute among individuals who will value the work and appreciate its merit.

POWELL MANAGES SALES OF NEW FIRM

Thomas B. Powell, who has been in the automobile business for the past ten years in Los Angeles, is now one of the many boosters for Glendale. He is associated with the H. Wray Fredman Auto company at 219 West Colorado street as salesmanager for the Oakland 6 automobile—the two year guarantee car. Mr. Powell loves to tell you about that machine.

He invites the people of this city and valley to see him and the Oakland 6 that are on display. He says the Oakland 6-44 is all the General Motors guarantees it to be—and then some.

TIPS TO PROSPECTIVE BUYERS
When buying a car, there are eight vital considerations which should govern the selection: Balance, power, control, lubrication, cooling, economy, durability and finish.

WEEKLY PURCHASE PLAN PROVES POPULAR

"I have received many inquiries asking if the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan included only passenger cars," Jesse E. Smith, local Ford dealer, said today.

"In reply to these I wish to say that the Ford Motor company has arranged it so that the plan includes also the purchase of Ford trucks and Fordson tractors.

"Many a business man operating a small establishment has seen the need of a truck for speeding up his hauling and delivery service and to meet modern requirements, but has refrained from making the purchase because of the outlay necessary to be taken from his business at the start.

"He may now purchase a truck on the Ford weekly purchase plan by setting aside each week a small amount toward the truck.

"Within a short time he will have the truck and with the service it will render he will be able to build up and expand his business, with profits increasing accordingly.

"And the same thing applies to the farmer who is desirous of motor transportation for his products to the city and who wishes to put his farm on a better paying basis by the use of the Fordson tractor.

"Under the Ford weekly purchase plan he can attain both these desires within a surprisingly short period of time and in so doing place his farm on an efficient operating system which will not only enable him to produce his crops more economically, but which will permit him to deliver them to the markets more quickly and at less cost.

"The Ford weekly purchase plan takes in all Ford products, cars, trucks and tractors, and makes the purchase for the ownership of any of these necessities easier than ever before."

WORTH REMEMBERING

An improvised grease container for filling grease cups can be quickly made by rolling a sheet of stiff wrapping paper into a small cornucopia. Pack the container with grease, tear off the pointed end, and roll the top as you would a tube of tooth paste.

INGENIOUS INSULATION

Rubber garden hose makes an ideal protection for ignition cables. Cut off a piece of rubber hose to the correct length, and run the wires through it and out the holes cut in the sides to conform with the location of the spark plugs.

CAR MANUFACTURE REQUIRES VAST ARMY

Few people realize the vast equipment in buildings and machinery, and the big army of men which are required for producing a motor car of the highest quality. The unique history of the Cadillac organization brings out this fact in a most striking manner.

When a Detroit manufacturer of high grade machinery opened a small shop with a handful of picked men 28 years ago, the institution that became the Cadillac Motor Car company was founded.

Years passed and that small shop grew into 77 small plants scattered in various parts of the Motor City. The number employed had increased in proportion. In 1921 most of these productive forces of the company were gathered into the big, new plant on the west side of the city.

In addition to this big, main factory, which has frontage on the Michigan Central railroad, the Cadillac building equipment includes three foundries and a body plant situated in other parts of the city; and a force of 8,000 craftsmen is employed in producing the cars.

The present factory covering more than 48 acres of land contains seven great building units divided into manufacturing and assembly divisions. It was constructed after several years of planning and preparation, and represents the best thought of factory engineers of the country.

Improvements and economies in manufacturing made possible by the new factory buildings resulted in greater refinements, and price reduction during 1922 of more than $1,000 on the type 61 touring car.

The company takes a pride in developing and retaining men of the highest mechanical skill.

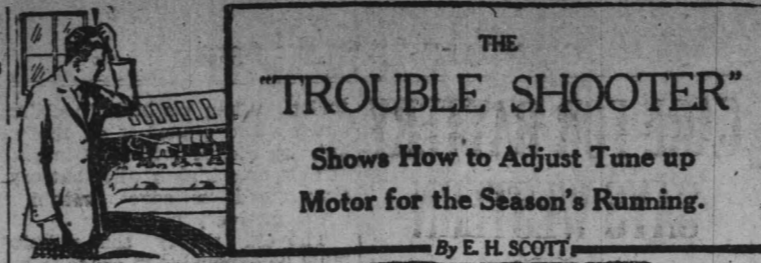

More than 1600 of the 8000 men now building V-type, 8-cylinder motor cars have been with the company for more than five years, 500 of them for more than ten years, $90 for more than 15 years, and 7 over 20 years.

President H. H. Rice sold the first model one-cylinder Cadillac car sold at a New York auto show. Twenty years ago he was a dealer handling Cadillac cars in Providence, R. I.

The Cadillac factory has been a pioneering institution from the outset. It was first to produce a standardized car in which all parts are exact duplicates of other parts of the same kind. It was first to introduce a complete electrical system of cranking, lighting and ignition. It was first to develop and incorporate thermostatic control of circulating cooling medium in motor car engines; first to develop V-type, high speed, high efficiency automobiles in the United States, and first in thermostatically controlled carburetion.

Nearly 250,000 cars have been produced by the company. Of these nearly 150,000 have been equipped with V-type, 8-cylinder engines. Parked end to end they would make a solid line stretching out for 383 miles.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER"

Shows How to Adjust Tune up Motor for the Season's Running.

By E. H. SCOTT

This article gives practical, step-by-step instructions to the motorist who wants to reduce his repair bills, get more power from his motor, and eliminate trouble during the coming touring season.

Overhauling the Lubrication System

In the winter months, few engines receive the care and attention they should, with the result that a thorough inspection and checking up is necessary if you want to have trouble free service in the coming months. During the next few weeks, I will explain in detail the necessary work you will have to do to put your car in first class condition for the touring season.

Perhaps, you may be one of those who have an engine which seems to "make" oil. In other words, the oil level is as high or nearly so, when you finish a run as it was when you went out. The explanation is that an excessive amount of gasoline is finding its way into the crankcase, and while the oil level shows plenty of oil, you really have a mixture of gasoline and oil, which is of very little use as a lubricant.

During the winter months considerable condensation takes place in the crankcase, and when you drain off the old oil, you may be surprised to see a small quantity of water is drained off also. The air drawn through the radiator contains a large percentage of moisture during the cold weather. Some of this air is drawn through the breather pipe into the crankcase where it immediately condenses, causing an accumulation of water in the crankcase.

After you come in from a run, the first thing you generally do is to have wash to remove the dust and grit accumulated on the road. This same dirt and grit is also being drawn down into the crankcase through the weather pipe, and before long you have quite a quantity of it mixed with the lubricating oil.

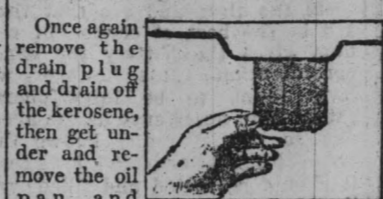

Dust, grit, water and gasoline are of the best lubricants in the world for a motor, yet at the end of say 500 miles running, you have in the lubricating oil a large amount of these substances. They all combine and form a slimy sludge, which causes all kinds of trouble, blocking the oil pipes, the oil strainer, and getting into the bearings and on the cylinder walls, causing rapid wear.

Now perhaps you understand why we have placed the draining and flushing out of the crankcase at the head of the list of things to be attended to before the heavy touring season commences.

Unscrew the drain plug and allow the old oil to drain off, then replace the plug and pour about a gallon of kerosene into the crankcase. Now turn the Ignition Switch off, then turn the engine over with the starting motor for about a minute, or if you use a hand crank, swing the engine over smartly for about three minutes. This will swirl the dirt and sediment down.

Once again remove the drain plug and drain off the kerosene, then get under and remove the oil pan and strainer. Thoroughly clean the pan and the depressions in it, and see that the strainer is free from lint and sediment. It is absolutely necessary that you REMOVE THE OIL PAN after flushing out the engine with kerosene, otherwise it is impossible to be sure of getting it all out of the crankcase before filling up with fresh oil. If any kerosene remains in the crankcase, it will dilute the oil again.

When replacing the pan, first screw up each bolt with a finger tight, then with a spanner, turn each bolt half a turn at a time until you have them all tight. After this, fill up with fresh oil to the correct level. Before you start the engine under power, turn it over twenty or thirty times with the Ignition Switch off, to get the oil worked into the bearings and cylinder walls.

This is the most thorough way to clean out the crankcase, but need only be done like this once or twice each season. During the season, you should drain every 500-700 miles, flush out with three-fourths of a gallon of LIGHT LUBRICATING OIL, NOT kerosene, then refill with fresh oil. NEVER flush out the crankcase with kerosene unless you take off the oil pan, when you can be sure of removing all kerosene.

NEVER FLUSH OUT THE CRANKCASE WITH KEROSENE, otherwise it is impossible to be sure of getting it all out of the crankcase before filling up with fresh oil. If any kerosene remains in the crankcase, it will dilute the oil again.

REASON FOR CAR BUYING IS TOLD

"The present phenomenal wave of new car buying is only the effort of business institutions and individuals to meet the accelerating pace of commerce and industry generally," says Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado, Maxwell and Chalmers dealers.

"As we see it, the present tremendous demand for new cars is abundant proof of the fact that automobile transportation is one of the first requisites of a successful social and commercial life today.

"The man who is not making use of automotive transportation today is under a disadvantage that no amount of economy can justify or equalize.

"It is equally true that the car owner who is not getting satisfactory performance from his car is poorly able to keep up with the man who does.

"The most important function of the automobile dealer today is to be at the service of owners rather than merely to look for sales. The responsibility for local automotive transportation falls directly upon the local dealer, rather than upon the maker of the car."

"One important phase of the present remarkable volume of business in new automobiles is the manner in which local dealers measure up to the increased requirements of car owners," says Mr. Clark.

"Hundreds of new cars are being delivered in every community this spring. Each one of these new cars represents an addition to the liability of the dealer who sold it, for service co-operation, parts and accessories.

"Has he proportionately increased his ability and responsibility? Has he become a still more competent automotive merchant with a still greater and more modern institution to serve the car owner? Or is he going to try to cover the needs of dozens of new owners with the facilities and organization that barely sufficed to meet the demands of his patrons a year ago?"

"As the number of new cars increases there should be a proportionate increase in the size and importance of the local dealer. For he is the one to whom the car owner of this and previous years must look for maintenance."

WHERE TRADEMARKS COUNT Do not buy tubes upon which the manufacturer's name does not appear. Many are worthless, and it is a waste of money to buy such equipment.

NEW CARBURETOR IS BUILT IN GLENDALE

The latest addition to automobile row in Glendale is the Winfield Carburetor company, 114 South Maryland avenue, where the already famous carburetor by that name is being manufactured.

This carburetor was invented by Sam P. Durand and Edward A. Winfield, both Glendale boys, who since putting it on the market report wonderful success. They state that more than one-third of the police machines of Southern California are already equipped with their carburetor, and that others are rapidly coming to see the merits of their article. William M. Morrow is president of the company that is putting this carburetor on the market in increasing quantities.

The motorists of Glendale are invited to call at this factory to see the manufacture of the carburetor in its various stages.

fishing—trotting with spinners and still fishing with salmon eggs. The fishing in these waters is always best early in the season and late in the fall. The best fishing is to be had in these lakes from boats, which should be engaged in advance in order to make sure of getting one.

Best lures to use here are as follows: Big Bear lake spinners, tandem spinners baited with angle worms, salmon eggs, live minnows.

Camp grounds will be found at both lakes, also hotel and cottage accommodations.

Following is a list of the streams in San Bernardino county that will furnish good fishing when the season opens—also fishing lures: Santa Ana river, Bear creek, Holcomb creek, Deep creek, City creek, Devil's Canyon, Lytle creek, Waterman Canyon. Lures: Royal coachman, brown hackle, bee, black gnat, alder, grey hackle, salmon eggs, angle worms, and so spinners.

VERSIVSIDE COUNTRY The fishing in this county is confined to the San Jacinto mountains, near Idyllwild. Good camp sites may be found on or near these streams. Hotel and cottage accommodations may be had at Idyllwild or Keene camp.

Best streams and fishing lures as follows: Indian creek, North Fork, Turkey creek, Strawberry creek, Fuller Mill creek, Stone creek, Snow creek. Lures: Royal coachman, brown hackle, black gnat, professor, grey hackle, grasshoppers, bee, oo spinners, angle worms or salmon eggs. Size hooks, 10 or 12.

Lake Hemet
Is generally good in the early part of the season. A charge of $5 is made to fish in this lake. Most of the fishing is done with salmon eggs for bait and trout up to five pounds have been caught here. A good camp site may be had at Hemet lake.

All of the above named streams have been stocked by the Fish and Game commission and should furnish plenty of five and six inch trout the first of the season.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY
Black Bass Fishing
Morena Reservoir: About 52 miles east of San Diego; fishing permit $1 a day. Boats 50 cents per hour; $1 half day; $2 all day. Camping permit 50 cents per machine; no charge for camping where fishing permit is secured. Thirty-two boats. Reservations should be made in advance; address or telephone Seth Swenson, Campo, California, phone Chula Vista 192-F-2.

Some of the best large mouth black bass fishing in the state is to be had in this lake. Best lures: Royal coachman or brown hackle, bucktail with spinner ahead, pork rind, minnows, angle worms and crawfish, plugs and live minnows. There is no closed season on fishing in this lake.

Sweetwater Reservoir: 11 miles east of San Diego. Fishing permit 50 cents per day. Boats rent for fishing $1 per day; forty-seven boats. Reservations should be made in advance. Address Henry Derford, National City, telephone National 10-2. No charge for camping privilege.

Very good bass fishing is to be had here and fine catches are made throughout the season.

Best lures: Flies, bucktails, plugs, pork rind minnows, angle worms, live minnows and crawfish.

La Mesa or Murray Reservoir: Ten miles northeast of San Diego. Fishing permit $1 per day. Boats 35 cents per hour; $1 half day or $1.50 all day. Camping privilege, no charge.

Thirteen boats. For reservations address W. M. Ritz, damkeeper, La Mesa, California. Telephone La Mesa 39-J.

Good bass fishing may be had here and some trout. Lures same as at Sweetwater.

Trout Fishing
Cuyamaca Lake, Lower Otay Reservoir and Barrett Reservoir: Are all stocked with rainbow trout and some fine two and three pounders have been taken from these waters each season. The fishing is best early in the season as when the water is lowered in the summer the grass growth hinders trolling or fly casting.

Camping privileges at Cuyamaca are 50 cents for first day and 25 cents per day thereafter. Eighteen boats at Cuyamaca, 35 cents per hour, $1 half day, $1.50 all day. Fishing permit 50 cents per day. For reservations, address J. F. Peterson, Damkeeper, Julian. Phone La Mesa 802-F-21.

No charge for camping at Barrett or Lower Otay Reservoirs.

Best lures to use: Spinners, salmon eggs, worms and live bait.

Ocean Fishing
Imperial Beach: Spottin croakers, yellowfin and corbina are biting. This beach is about 13 miles south of San Diego.

Ocean Beach: Corbina, croakers, smelt biting.

Muscle Rock: Bass and corbina biting.

Cardiff: Good croaker, corbina, and surf perch had past week.

Oceanside: Good mackerel, smelt, yellowfin fishing from wharf and good surf fishing past week.

A GOOD HABIT TO CULTIVATE

Create a habit of using the emergency brake every day. This will keep you in practice, and you will become accustomed to reaching for it whenever any emergency arises. It is also well to use this brake often to wear the emergency brake bands evenly with those on the service brakes.

STAR CAR SALE IS BRISK IN SO. CALIF.

The Star car, for which Dilly & Armstrong company, 113 West Harvard street, is agent in Glendale, ranked third in automobile sales in Southern California during April. This, it will be acknowledged, is a wonderful showing for a car that has been on the market such a short time. It evidences the enthusiasm with which this car is being received by the people of Southern California, and demonstrates beyond a doubt that the Star is a car of real quality, notwithstanding the low price at which it is being sold.

The sales in Glendale of this car during the past month have been extremely encouraging. Quite a number of Glendale people have investigated its merits and in many instances they have remained to secure one of these sturdy little machines.

"The prospects are bright," says Dilly.

LOCATING LEAKS

Leaks in the carburetor float can be located by immersing the part in water. In this way, any gasoline in the interior will be vaporized and will force it way out of the hole, which may be located by watching for the bubbles to rise.

CARE FOR BATTERY SAYS WESTERN AUTO

"When the battery in a car gives the owner trouble it is usually a safe bet that the owner has not given it the proper attention and care," says Mr. Claude Roubush, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company. "The battery is of as great importance as the tires or the engine and requires a regular inspection in order to keep it in perfect condition. Negligence on the part of the owner will always result in the non-performance of the battery. Just because it is hidden away under the seat or out of sight is no reason why it should be forgotten. When a person starts on a tour, he always tests the tires and sees that they are in the best of shape but seldom gives the battery the same consideration. This, however, we have found to be forgetfulness rather than negligence as the average car owner really knows the value of his battery and knows that it should be tested and filled, yet it slips his mind."

"We have made it a point in our electric department to remind the motorist of the care of his battery, and ask him if he has tested it lately and advise him as to the general care of this important unit."

"When the Western Auto Supply company decided to enter the battery field we gave much thought and study to the needs of the motorist. When we built the Wizard battery and placed it on the market, we did so with the intention of putting a high quality battery of guaranteed "mileage" within the reach of every motorist.

The old theory that a battery must be expensive in order to be of high quality rapidly gave way with our placing of this battery before the motoring public. To carry out the policy of our organization we make these batteries and distribute them through our chain of 70 stores—from the manufacturer direct to the car owner," concluded Mr. Claude Roubush.

RUBBER-COVERED PEDALS
To prevent the foot from slipping off the clutch or brake pedal, which usually becomes smooth through long wear, cut a piece of rubber from an old tire, the size and shape of the pedal, and have it bolted to the surface of the metal.

BUTTE, Mont.—To the cynic who says there is no honesty in a mining camp Miss Anna Sammark, a visitor here, refers to Ada Collins, fifteen-year-old salvation army lassie, who returned Miss Sammark's lost pocket book containing a draft for $1,000 and currency.

SHELBY, Mont.—A golf course will be laid out this summer at Shelby, Montana's latest oil boom town. The course will be the ninth in the state, the others being at Great Falls, Missoula, Butte, Anaconda, Helena, Lewiston, Niles City and Billings.

Use a glass or rubber funnel when pouring distilled water into the battery. Metal funnels are conductors of electricity, and are likely to spoil the cells.

THE 'WHY' OF RUBBER IN U. S.

This country is entirely dependent upon foreign producers for rubber, one of the most vitally important commodities that enter into our industrial life, a commodity that directly affects the comfort, convenience and prosperity of millions of our citizens. Using three-quarters of the world's entire output of rubber, of which 90 per cent is produced in the Malay Straits plantations, the United States produces so little that the quantity is wholly negligible. Should war or other contingency cut off the supply of foreign rubber we would be in a serious plight.

That such a situation as this will be accepted as permanent and unalterable is too far out of line with American traditions to be for a moment considered. It cannot be corrected in a day or in a year, but that it can and must be corrected eventually is obvious.

Meantime, American botanical and agricultural experts are studying the problem with other potential fields of rubber culture in view. There is plenty of rubber in the Philippines, but the uncertainty of that country's future discourages American investors. However, in Central America, in Mexico and in our own Southwestern plains region investigators have found trees and plants which, under proper treatment, produce a grade of rubber which, when mixed with the most elastic Para, yields a product which is said to be of better quality than the pure South American rubber.

INCREASING IN POPULARITY

That the week-end camping exodus is growing in popularity these balmy spring days is evidenced by short trips to the mountains, beaches and countryside where tented cities spring up Saturday afternoons and as quickly disappear Sunday nights.

The lure of the open, with its dash of adventure and romance, is too strong for the average city dweller to resist, so with their cars laden down with camping equipment they start out for two full days of pleasure among the primitive places.

Away from business cares and worries they spend their holidays eating and sleeping out in the open and living next to the very heart of old Mother Nature.

With the complete and up-to-date camping equipment supplied at the Western Auto Company's stores, there is none of the bother and trouble experienced in the old days when it took weeks to get together the equipment necessary to spend a few days in the open and then without the perfect comfort the modern equipment affords.
